SINN FEIN QUARTERS IN NUMBER OF IRISH TOWNS RAIDED TO-DAY

Troops and Police Move Against Organization; High Explosives Seized at Derry; Raids in Dublin, Belfast, Cork and Other Towns

Belfast, Sept. 12.—Military and police activity was everywhere in evidence to-day against the Sinn Fein organization. Raids were carried out in Belfast, Lisburn, Derry, Dundalk, Louth and Enniskillen.

A quantity of high explosives was seized at the Derry Sinn Fein headquarters.

In the same town the occupants of a house which was being searched confronted the police with two revolvers, but were overpowered.

Dublin, Sept. 12.—A strong force of soldiers this morning searched the Sinn Fein headquarters in this city.

Two Sinn Fein members of the House of Commons were detained. While the houses of other Sinn Fein members of the Commons are under visitation.

At Skibbereen, in the southwestern part of County Cork, armed police raided a newspaper office and a number of private residences.

At Cork.
Cork, Ireland, Sept. 12.—Sinn Fein clubs in this city were raided this morning by armed police, who conducted searches while soldiers stood on guard outside. The unoccupied Sinn Fein headquarters also were broken into but it is understood that nothing of importance was discovered there.

French's Promise.
London, Sept. 12.—(Reuter's).—Lord French, speaking at Belfast, referring to the recent murders of policemen and soldiers in Ireland, denounced them as "unspeakable villainy" and "dastardly murders." He declared that the Irish Government's only policy was to secure to all law-abiding subjects freedom and protection. In fulfillment of this the Government would not shrink from adopting the most drastic measures if necessary.

M. P.'s in Teils.
Dublin, Sept. 12.—Two new Sinn Fein members of the House of Commons were arrested during the raids on the Sinn Fein here to-day. They are Ernest Blythe, member for Monaghan North, and Patrick O'Keefe, member for the North Division of Cork County.

Military lorries carrying prisoners from the outskirts of Dublin are arriving in the city.

At Buncrana.
Buncrana, Ireland, Sept. 12.—Police and soldiers in full marching order searched houses and factories here this morning. It is reported they found nothing of moment.

RED RUSSIAN IS ORDERED DEPORTED

Sava Karoba, Agitator, Will Be Sent Away From Vancouver

Vancouver, Sept. 2.—Sava Karoba has been ordered deported by the Immigration Board sitting here.

Karoba, whose real name is Kadovba, and who sometimes used the name of Sava Churney, was arrested by the Royal Northwest Mounted Police when the roundup of Russian agitators was made during the summer.

According to the evidence, there exists throughout Canada, actively affiliated with similar organizations in the United States and throughout the world, a strong Russian secret society that has the aim of red revolution, the upsetting of Governments and the establishment of Bolshevism.

An Anarchist.
Sava Karoba, the evidence showed, was organizer in Canada for the Russian Social Anarchist Party. This is said to be the parent body of the Russian Workers' Union. Their motto, as shown by banners in a photograph taken at Toronto, translates as follows:

"With our might we will gain our right."
"All for one, one for all."
"Long life to the world revolution-ary republic of Social Revolutionists."

Mass of Literature.
When arrested Karoba had a mass of literature and letters. All of the letters were written since the begin-

PRESIDENT WILSON SPEAKS IN IDAHO

Says at Coeur d'Alene Republic's Duty to Accept Treaty

Pictures World Aflame With War If Pact Thrown Aside

Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Sept. 12.—A world again aflame with war unless the peace treaty accepted was pictured by President Wilson in an address here to-day.

The United States is face to face, he declared, with a decision as to whether she will "prove to the world that she meant what she said in promising to aid in a peace concert."

While he could understand why men in the United States might differ as to details of the treaty, Mr. Wilson was "amazed" that some men wanted to reject it altogether. It was the United States that saved the world, he declared, and now it was proposed "in some quarters to 'desert the world.'"

The forthcoming treaty with Austria, said the President, would be drawn "along exactly the same lines" as that with Germany and would be another step in the effort to prevent another attempt at conquest. He asserted that the field for future conquest lay directly to the east of Germany and that Germany already was negotiating with the Bolshevik Government of Russia in the hope of finding soil there for industrial and political intrigue.

GERMANY ABLE TO PAY SUM FRANCE MEANS TO HAVE
Paris, Sept. 12.—Speaking in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, Louis Loucheur, Minister of Reconstruction, declared that the French financial claims upon Germany in no wise exceeded the latter's capacity to pay.

AMERICAN COMPANY TO ASSIST POLAND
Basel, Sept. 12.—(Havas).—An American company having a capital of $100,000,000 is being organized in Poland to extend credits to Polish cities so they may meet their necessities, especially for the construction of canals, water plants and hospitals, according to The Vossische Zeitung, of Berlin.

STREET CAR STRIKE IN MARSEILLES
Marseilles, Sept. 11.—The life of this, the second city in France, was partly paralyzed to-day by a strike of the tramway, gas and electrical workers in sympathy with the striking dockworkers.

AUSTRALIA TO GET LESS THAN $300,000,000
Melbourne, Sept. 12.—(Reuter's).—It is stated that Premier Hughes informed a meeting of the Ministerial Party that the indemnity to be paid to Australia would be rather less than $300,000,000.

A $500,000 FIRE IN SEATTLE TO-DAY
Seattle, Sept. 12.—Fire of undetermined origin early to-day swept a five-story building in the Seattle business district, routed the sleeping occupants of two nearby hotels, injured several persons, including four firemen, and caused a property loss estimated at about $500,000.

HANDING OVER OF U. S. RAILROADS
Washington, Sept. 12.—Preparing for the return of the railroads to private ownership, Director-General Hines today ordered all roads to begin an inventory of supplies on hand as of December 31, 1919, the date indicated by President Wilson in his address to Congress as the termination of Government supervision.

MOB DOES DAMAGE IN LIMA, PERU
Washington, Sept. 12.—The offices of La Prensa and El Comercio, newspapers of Lima, Peru, were attacked by a mob yesterday and partially burned, according to advices to the Peruvian Embassy here. The home of Mico-Quezada, proprietor of El Comercio, was totally destroyed by fire.

The disorders followed a mass meeting of protest against conspirators who had plotted to attack President Leguia after the Government had ordered the imprisonment of several of the conspirators.

CAMPAIGN IN BRITAIN IN FAVOR OF WORLD LEAGUE
London, Sept. 12.—Mr. Lloyd George, in a speech to be delivered in the Guildhall on October 1 in behalf of the League of Nations Union, will inaugurate a campaign which is to be carried on throughout the country during the Autumn, ending November 11, with demonstrations in every town and city in the United Kingdom.

It is expected by the promoters that the movement will extend to other countries and that November 11, which also is Armistice Day, will be made "League of Nations Day."

Those who will take part in the campaign in the British Isles are Lord Robert Cecil, Robert A. Lister, Sir William H. Seagar and other members of Parliament.

MAN EXECUTED.
Montreal, Sept. 12.—Antonio Spreccage, an Italian, was executed this morning in the Bordeaux jail for the murder of George Roberts, a foreman in the Grand Trunk shops here and formerly of Stratford and London. Ellis was the executioner.

Treaty of Peace to Be Handed to Bulgars on Tuesday
Paris, Sept. 12.—It is probable the treaty with Bulgaria will be handed that nation's representatives Tuesday.

The Greek and Roumanian delegates have filed additional protests against the territorial and economic sections of the treaty which may result in changes.

Turks Make Promise to Wilson They Will Put End to Disorders
London, Sept. 12.—Turkey has replied to the message from President Wilson demanding that disorders cease in that country, declaring that all measures will be taken for the maintenance of order and security in Anatolia, according to a Constantinople dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph.

MONTENEGRINS CONTINUE TO FIGHT AGAINST SERBIANS
Paris, Sept. 12.—A Montenegrin official communication issued here says that fighting continues fiercely throughout Montenegro against the Serbian invaders, who have suffered severe losses. The Serbians have sent reinforcements numbering 15,000 men by way of Bosnia and Cattaro.

The communication complains of atrocities upon Montenegrin men and women.

Paris, Sept. 12.—A delayed Associated Press dispatch from Athens dated September 2 says that the Turks in Western Thrace revolted and were joined by the Greek remnants there.

TAKING STRIKE VOTE IN BOSTON NOW

Unions Deciding Whether to Strike in Sympathy With Policemen

Seoul in Hands of Japanese Troops

London, Sept. 12.—With the threat of a sympathetic general strike on the part of the Central Labor Union last night in ordering all local unions to act on the proposal at once, thus giving a fuller expression of opinion, the situation resulting from the strike of the policemen of Boston assumed a calmer aspect to-day.

The reduction during last night of the disturbances which had marked the first two nights of the strike was a reassuring feature. Soldiers of the State Guard continued in charge of the streets, aided by the force of volunteer policemen and such members of the regular force as had refused to desert their posts. Little difficulty was experienced in breaking up the crowds, except in one or two sections.

Governor Coolidge, who was in charge of the police situation to-day, commended in-chief of the armed forces of the state, had received assurances from both the War and Navy Departments that any call which he might make upon the President for federal assistance would be answered promptly. Military leaders estimated that 18,000 regulars could reach the city within twelve hours.

Seven Killed.
The death list as a direct result of the strike, now in its third day, stood to-day at seven. Several of the fatalities were due to firing by Guardsmen into mobs found breaking windows and looting stores, while others resulted from efforts of soldiers to break up dice games which during the first two days were played openly in the streets and on Boston Common. Another of the dead was a striking policeman shot down by a storekeeper who feared his place of business was about to be sacked.

Several of the scheduled union meetings are expected to be held to-day or to-morrow. The firemen will vote to-night and the telephone operators have announced a meeting at the same time to consider "matters of importance." The outcome of the voting is to be reported to a special committee of the central body.

ONTARIO FARMERS WANT FARMER M.P.'S
Meaford, Ont., Sept. 12.—Lieut. Colonel Carmichael, a farmer residing in Collingwood Township, was nominated at a convention of the Centre Grey branch of the United Farmers of Canada to oppose Hon. I. B. Lucas, the Attorney-General, in the Provincial general election.

St. Catharines, Ont., Sept. 12.—Edward D. McIntyre, of Crowland, was nominated to-day at a convention of the United Farmers of Welland as their candidate in the constituency of Welland in the coming Provincial general election. The only other candidate so far in the field is Robert Cooper, a Liberal.

Man Executed.
Montreal, Sept. 12.—Antonio Spreccage, an Italian, was executed this morning in the Bordeaux jail for the murder of George Roberts, a foreman in the Grand Trunk shops here and formerly of Stratford and London. Ellis was the executioner.

PEACE PROGRAMME OF THE RED CROSS
Canadian Organization Plans Public Health Measures, Aid to Siberia

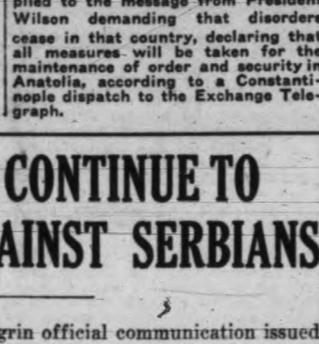

Winnipeg, Sept. 12.—An extensive peace programme for the Red Cross Society of Canada, including promotion of medical and nursing service and other public health measures, in addition to the primary function of the Society, which is the physical welfare of those suffering as a result of war, was endorsed by the Central Council of the Society here at its final session. The Duke and Duchess of Devonshire were present at both sessions, and every province but Prince Edward Island was represented.

Greatest Appeal.
It is considered that the medical and nursing service is one which will make the greatest appeal to the country as a whole, and the scheme will be worked out with the co-operation of the various existing agencies, such as the Canadian National Association of Trained Nurses and the Victorian Order, and will include enrolment of available workers, both trained and volunteer, for emergency and continuous service. Special facilities will be provided for courses for nurses.

Fees.
By amending its by-laws, the Central Council has made a uniform fee of $1 for active membership in the Canadian Society, and for junior branches, a fee of 50 cents.

There will be no cessation of the war work of the Society so long as the need for assistance in that direction exists. Siberia will receive four carloads of drugs and supplies from the Society as soon as they can be transported, and further aid to the amount of $100,000 if necessary, has been sanctioned.

AGAIN A MEMBER OF THE BRITISH COMMONS; RT. HON. A. HENDERSON

London, Sept. 12.—Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, the Labor leader, who was defeated for re-election to Parliament at the general election last winter, was elected to the House of Commons to-day in the bye-election in Widnes, Lancashire. Mr. Henderson polled 11,404 votes against 10,117 for his opponent, F. H. Fisher, the Coalitionist candidate.

Gold to Dominion From Germany for Supplies of Food
London, Sept. 12.—It is reported that £4,500,000 in gold has reached London from Germany, and a portion is said to be already on the way to Canada in payment for foodstuffs.

1,000 AIRMEN TO RETURN TO CANADA
Ottawa, Sept. 12.—Approximately a thousand of the personnel of the Royal Air Force will sail for Canada on the Megantic and Caronia this coming week-end, after which no Canadian airmen will remain in England except those in hospital. Special arrangements are being made for the repatriation of all hospital cases.

MR. WILSON'S PLANS GREATLY CHANGED
League Constitution Written by Him Published at Washington

Washington, Sept. 12.—President Wilson's original proposition on the League of Nations, written on his own typewriter, was filed with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to-day by William C. Bullitt, of Philadelphia, formerly attached to the American peace mission at Paris. The copy was presented to Bullitt by Col. E. M. House and bore the inscription by the latter: "In appreciation of your help in the hour of need."

In answer to a question by Senator Knox, Bullitt said that in its final form the only proposal made by the President that remained intact was Article 10.

Senator Knox wanted to know if there was not a feeling of dissatisfaction at Paris at the way in which the American delegation's work was handled.

There was little contact between the top of the delegation and the experts, Bullitt replied.

KILLED BY FALL
Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 12.—E. E. Wilson, of Lynnton, Ore., formerly an army aviation instructor, was killed in the fall of an aeroplane here yesterday afternoon.

KOLCHAK'S ARMY IS BEATING BACK BOLSHEVIK TROOPS
Omsk, Sept. 11.—General headquarters of the Kolchak army announced to-day that the offensive was being carried forward successfully along the whole Siberian front. The enemy is being driven back everywhere with severe losses, the announcement says, and has been compelled to abandon prisoners and important booty.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Dispatches sent from Omsk on September 10 by the American Consul there report that the northern Siberian army has stopped its retreat and is now west of the Ishim River and it generally is believed that Omsk is out of danger from the Bolsheviki.

They make no mention of the disaster to the southern army reported in a Bolsheviki wireless dispatch from Moscow to London.

Bolshevik Report.
London, Sept. 12.—The remainder of Admiral Kolchak's army in the region of Aktubinsk and Orsk has been reported.

PRINCE OF WALES VISITS EDMONTON
Warm Welcome Given Him in Capital of Alberta

Edmonton, Sept. 12.—With cheering thousands out to welcome him in spite of the threatening weather and the streets still wet from an early morning rain, the Prince of Wales arrived in Edmonton at 9:15 o'clock this morning. He was met on the C.P.R. station platform by Lieutenant-Governor Brett, Premier Stewart, Mayor Joseph A. Clarke, Brigadier-General McDonald, commanding this military district, Chief Justice Harvey and Hon. Charles Mitchell. After shaking hands with all those on the platform, the Prince met Captain Scott, D.C.M., of the Princess Patricia's, commanding the guard of honor supplied by the Edmonton branch of the Great War Veterans' Association. After inspecting the guard, he shook hands with Captain Collins, president of the Edmonton branch of the Great War Veterans' Association, whose members were out 1,500 strong to welcome their former comrade-in-arms.

Children Cheered.
Some 5,000 school children massed at the entrance to the station burst into cheering as the Prince came in front of them. He stopped his car and won every kiddie's heart by standing up on the back seat and waving to them. Every child waved back, taking the greeting as a personal one, and the cheering burst forth with redoubled volume.

Following the welcome at the station the Prince and his staff proceeded to the Parliament Buildings, where provincial and civic addresses of welcome were presented to which he replied in gracious terms.

Prince's Reply.
In the course of his reply to Alberta's welcome the Prince said: "Alberta and its seat of government have made most marvellous progress since the creation of the province less than twenty years ago. I am conscious of the closest kinship with the spirit of freedom and enterprise which breathes so strongly throughout the West, and I see all around me in Edmonton the evidence of the spirit in the most vigorous form. Your great war services have proved, Mr. Premier, that this activity, wonderful as it is, is not self-centred."

CONGRESS AT GLASGOW INSISTS TROOPS MOVE FROM RUSSIA AT ONCE
British Workmen Want Conscription Measure Repealed and Are Ready to Hold Convention On Taking of Direct Action If Demands Refused

Glasgow, Sept. 12.—A slashing indictment of Rt. Hon. Winston Spencer Churchill, the Secretary of War, for his declaration of yesterday regarding the delay in the evacuation of Northern Russia by the British forces, was delivered by James Henry Thomas, a Labor member of Parliament, at the session of the British Trades Union Congress here to-day. Mr. Thomas moved a resolution demanding that the troops be withdrawn from Russia.

Secretary Churchill, said Mr. Thomas, had not answered the recent indictment by Lieut.-Colonel Sherwood Kelly, a volunteer officer in the North Russian relief force, that British lives were being thrown away in the Archangel region, but on the contrary the Secretary had threatened to punish the colonel.

The Congress enthusiastically adopted the Thomas resolution, which besides demanding the immediate withdrawal of the troops from Russia, demands the repeal of the conscription measure. It provides for the calling of a special session of the Congress for the taking of direct action if necessary, should the demands not be satisfactorily met.

The statement by Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, Secretary of War, referred to in the above dispatch, was issued yesterday and denied there had been any change in the British policy to evacuate North Russia.

Evacuation, however, had been retarded owing to the necessity of bringing away many Russians in danger of their lives, as well as women and children.

Mr. Churchill admitted that it would be impossible to effect a junction with Admiral Kolchak before winter.

SMUTS URGES CITY IN SOUTH AFRICA
Deals With the Hertzog Party's Movement For Independence

Cape Town, Sept. 12.—(Reuter's).—In the Assembly yesterday, Premier Smuts, referring to the Hertzog party's campaign for independence, warned them that in the United States millions of lives had been sacrificed on the altar of secession. Two courses, he said, were open: Mutual co-operation or the path to secession. "We continue," said the Premier amidst cheers, "to stand by the treaty and our word of honor."

On the other hand, secession was a path leading to a broken South Africa, a discredited South Africa, and more, with a native population far outnumbering a white population.

JELICOE HAS PLAN FOR AUSTRALIAN NAVY

Sydney, N. S. W., Sept. 12.—Admiral Lord Jellicoe, whose mission here is the reorganization of the Australian navy, has completed his report. This provides for the establishment of an Australian naval unit composed of eight modern battle-cruisers, twelve light cruisers, twenty-four destroyers and twelve submarines and supply ships. This programme is to be completed in 1932 at a cost of £5,000,000 annually. It is considered doubtful that the Government will accept these proposals.

WILL BE DEBATED IN THE COMMONS

Additional Financial Aid For Ex-Soldiers to Be Discussed

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—The question of an additional gratuity for the returned soldiers will come up as a subject of formal debate in the House of Commons next Monday. A notice of motion has been posted which will bring the matter before the House.

Yesterday afternoon Major Power referred the Minister of Militia to the statement attributed to General Sir Arthur Currie that he was in favor of a commission to investigate. Major Power asked if in this General Currie reflected the views of the Government.

The Minister of Militia replied that Sir Arthur Currie was neither reflecting the views of the Government nor of himself. He had not discussed the question with General Currie. However, General Currie would be in Ottawa a day hence and he would then call his attention to the statement.

A Committee.

Winnipeg, Sept. 12.—A special dispatch to The Manitoba Free Press from its staff correspondent in Ottawa, filed last night, said:

"A compromise had been reached in connection with the demands of the Great War Veterans' Association, whose representatives for the last week have been conferring with the Government, canvassing the members and generally pressing their claims for the appointment of a Royal Commission to inquire into and report on the matter of better terms to the returned men and their dependents. It is stated to-night that the Government, which refused a Royal Commission on the ground that it already possessed all the knowledge necessary to deal with the situation, and that further heavy outlays were impossible under the strained condition of the Dominion treasury and the heavy inevitable demands upon it, has now decided to appoint a Parliamentary Committee similar to that which has been sitting on the question of pensions for the last three sessions, and before which evidence will be heard. On the Committee there will be most of the soldier representatives of the House, and members of the executive of the veterans will be in attendance.

"To-morrow afternoon it is anticipated the Government will bring in a bill to consolidate the various Orders-in-Council dealing with soldiers' civil re-establishment."

TREATY RATIFIED BY SOUTH AFRICA

Cape Town, Sept. 12.—(Reuter's).—The House of Assembly has ratified the peace treaty.

PERMITS NEEDED.

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 12.—A bill has been introduced in the Provincial Assembly by the Government which would prohibit any former enemy alien from landing in Jamaica without a special permit from the local authorities. The penalty for breach of this law is fixed at $500 or twelve months' imprisonment.

still totals roughly $500,000 a day. For the month of August it was $14,085,000, a reduction of $4,500,000, as against August last year.

Since the end of March, the beginning of the present fiscal year, capital expenditure on war account has totalled no less than $121,487,189, almost double what it was for the same period last year. For the five months ending August 31, 1918, the total capital expenditure totalled $63,580,275. It is pointed out, however, that the figures, which are taken from the monthly balance sheet of the Department of Finance, represent only receipts and payment which passed through the books of the Finance Department during the month. Thus the five months' expenditure for this year would include payments referring to a previous date.

Current revenue for the month was $22,764,000, as compared with $26,355,000 in August, 1918. Current expenditure for the same month was: August, 1918, $21,693,000; August, 1919, $19,858,000.

For the five months' period ended August 31, current expenditure has been: 1919, $97,579,000; 1918, $51,981,000.

The net debt was increased during August by $14,454,000, compared with an increase of $23,915,000 in the net debt registered in 1918. The total net debt of the Dominion now stands at $1,554,717,000.

A large increase in revenue under the heading of miscellaneous—mainly income and business profits tax—was made during the month in comparison with August, 1918. In August, 1918, miscellaneous revenue totalled $2,780,000; in August, 1919, it was $10,310,000.

PRINCE TOOK PART IN A STAMPEDE

Rode Horse at Big Popular Event in Saskatoon

Saskatoon, Sept. 12.—"Here you western cowboys, where's your rope?" When the Prince of Wales mounted a mustang at the close of the Saskatoon Stampede yesterday, the climax of a stirring day was reached. For hours the Prince had stood watching the feats of horsemanship provided for his amusement, keen on every event after his companions had dropped into seats in the Royal pavilion, exhausted. Opposite the Prince thousands of persons were occupying the grandstand, watching the friendly intercourse between their future King and the cowboys who had distinguished themselves in the day's sport. The crowds saw no walled-in princeling behind a guard, but instead watched the lads of the Royal Naval Brigade scrambling beside him for a better view of the rough-riders and cowboys challenging him to compete with them in their feats, and finally they saw the Prince run into the arena and call for a horse. The cowboys gathered about him, eager to teach the Prince the tricks of their trade, and away went the round-up game while the grandstand roared approval.

Entering his automobile again to make the return journey down town, the Prince was practically mobbed and sitting on the back of the car wildly waving his hat and with a body of cowboys giving their famous calls, he left the exhibition and went to the home of the Mayor, where he was introduced to a number of ladies who had worked for patriotic societies.

COL. LECKIE MAY LEAD IN NORTH RUSSIA

London, Sept. 12.—Colonel John Leckie, who recently returned from North Russia with the Canadian officers of the Murmansk expedition, has been asked by the Russian authorities to form a brigade for service there.

Assuming that diplomatic considerations will permit Col. Leckie to undertake such a task, it is understood he views the proposal with considerable favor. Several officers who originally joined his command are willing to serve again.

DUTY ON BACON MAY BE REMOVED

Board of Commerce May Make Recommendation to Government

Winnipeg, Sept. 12.—A hint that the Government may be asked to abolish the three-cent-a-pound duty on bacon was given by Judge Robson yesterday at the first local sitting of the Board of Commerce under the Combines and Fair Prices Act.

Judge Robson's statement followed the evidence of John Guest, manager of Eaton's meat department, when he told of buying 1,500 pounds of bacon from Armour's in Duluth last week as an experiment. "Our figures are not complete, but we believe that the Armour bacon laid down here cost us one cent less a pound than the same grade bought locally," he said.

H. M. Tucker, manager of Eaton's, suggested that the rate of exchange on Canadian money in the United States had not been considered. "That's an important point," Judge Robson said. "If the cost to the consumer can be reduced by throwing off the duty, we shall make a recommendation to the Government that the duty be thrown off."

NOVA SCOTIA MAN GAINS 25 POUNDS

"I Simply Feel Like a New Man," He Says After Taking Tanlac

"I have often seen the time I would have gladly given everything I possessed for the relief a few bottles of this Tanlac has given me," said Robert McAloney, a well-known contractor, living at 33 York Street, Halifax, in a statement while at Kinley's recently. Mr. McAloney is also well known in Mallesonne, Montreal, where he resided for many years before coming to Halifax.

"Four bottles of Tanlac has not only relieved me entirely of a case of stomach trouble that has made life miserable for me for more than five years," he continued, "but I have actually gained twenty-five pounds in weight, besides. I am not exaggerating a bit when I say I am feeling better now than I have in twenty years. Why, I was telling one of my friends the other day that I am feeling like a sixteen year old boy again. The way I have been built up and strengthened has really astonished me."

"I had been suffering, as I said, from stomach trouble and a run-down condition for more than five years and until Tanlac came along was never able to find anything to help me. My stomach just seemed to be upset all the time. Nothing tasted right or agreed with me, and I simply had to force down what little I did eat. My stomach would get as sour as vinegar after meals, and I would bloat up with gas and feel miserable for hours. There were sharp, cramping pains all through my stomach and the gas would press on my heart so at times I could hardly breathe."

"After going to bed at night this gas would bother me so I couldn't rest. Many a night I have gotten out of bed and walked the floor never getting a wink of sleep. I have had to lay off from work for weeks at a time just suffering agony with my stomach, and had lost all of thirty pounds in weight. I would wake up in the mornings feeling so tired and no account that it would take me time to get out of bed. I was habitually constipated and had a dull, nagging headache nearly all the time. I had suffered so much and so long that I had about reached the point where I didn't much care whether I lived or not."

"But I feel altogether different since Tanlac has straightened me out and built me up so wonderfully. Before I had finished my first bottle there was a decided improvement in my condition. I am eating three good, square meals a day and my stomach never gives me the least trouble. I don't believe I have ever enjoyed my meals more and I can eat just anything set before me. I have been relieved of constipation and headache and that tired, worn-out feeling has left me, too. I can sleep like a log every night, and get up in the mornings ready for a hearty breakfast and a good day's work. I tell you I simply feel like a new man, and I am glad to give this statement to be used in letting others know what it is that restored my health."

DRIVE IN COWICHAN TO LIFT MORTGAGE

Cowichan Agricultural Society Will Campaign For 500 Members

Duncan, Sept. 12.—The Cowichan Agricultural Society will put on a big drive next week to sell debentures to the amount of $15,000, and to increase the membership of the society to 500. This is necessary to put the society on a satisfactory financial basis. Without the support of the public the directors say the society will cease to exist, and the property be handed over to settle the mortgage. The society has been in existence over fifty years, has done good work in the past, and has great possibilities for the future. It would be a sorry day for Cowichan should it be necessary to close down.

Property Changes.

Col. Collard has bought property on Quamichan Lake adjoining his residence of six or seven years ago. Two pieces, G. Rothwell's place and A. N. Parry's place, will make his new home.

A. N. Parry has bought property behind the Cross Brothers' home and has removed there.

Sales of several other places have been made during the past few weeks and several are at present in process of adjustment.

GIFTS OF MONEY IN NEW WESTMINSTER

New Westminster, Sept. 12.—New Westminster police are confronted with one of the strangest police cases in the annals of the city. A couple of days ago the wife of a working man residing on London Street found an envelope on the front porch addressed to her husband and on opening it found $200 in bills therein. Not a scrap of paper giving any explanation was found in the envelope. She turned the envelope and the money over to the police.

At the next house but one, the intervening house being empty, a similar envelope was found by the small daughter of the workman living there. This envelope, which was addressed to her father, also contained "the same amount of money."

In each case the name and address were correctly printed with pen and ink. The two families are not related in any way and know of no reason why money should be left them in this manner.

Chief of Police Bradshaw states he has had no similar experience in twenty years of police work and thinks that it must be the work of some demented person.

NATIONALIZATION IN STATES URGED

United Mine Workers Declare For State-owned Coal Mines

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Nationalization of the mines of the United States as a general principle was approved yesterday afternoon by the convention of the United Mine Workers of America with only one dissenting voice, the sole objector being shouted down when he declared nationalization an impossibility. Concrete proposals for nationalization are expected when the report of the committee on resolutions is presented.

The convention voted with the same unanimity for a six-hour day and five days a week in all coal mines, to be incorporated in the demands presented to the mine operators at the joint wage conference at Buffalo on September 25, but deferred discussion of specific wage demands until next week.

HOUSE OF COMMONS APPROVES TREATY

Majority When Vote Taken Early This Morning Was Thirty-two

Amendment Moved by Fielding Failed; Vote Was Party One

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—Ratification of the peace treaty with Germany was voted by the House of Commons at an early hour this morning by a majority of 32. This followed the defeat of an amendment moved by Hon. W. S. Fielding and seconded by Ernest Lapointe, Liberal member for Kamouraska, Quebec, the vote standing 102 against the amendment and 70 for it. The vote on the amendment was taken at 1:15 a. m., the line-up being a straight party one with no "switches."

The Fielding amendment proposed that the following clause be added to the Borden resolution: "That in giving such approval this House in no way assents to any impairment of the existing autonomous authority of the Dominion, but declares that the question of what part, if any, the forces of Canada shall take in any war, actual or threatened, is one to be determined at all times, as occasion may require, by the people of Canada through their representatives in Parliament."

Galleries Filled. The main speakers of the afternoon and evening were Mr. Fielding and Hon. C. J. Doherty. As the debate proceeded, the galleries filled, till in the evening they were crowded. From each side of the House, as either Mr. Fielding or Mr. Doherty held the floor, came rapid-fire questions. Mr. Fielding argued that Canada was still a dependency, subject in international questions to the British Government, and Mr. Doherty held that Canada was one of a group of nations constituting the Empire.

"Humbug." Mr. Fielding thought ratification by Canada would be "arrant humbug."

Mr. Doherty replied that nationhood was a matter of fact, not what was written in a statute book. Canada had played a nation's part and had been recognized as a nation. The Canadian delegates to the Conference said Mr. Doherty had not "sneered" at Canada. They had not secured the right to sit on international conferences by saying "we are a little colony—please be good enough to send us home. We are an economical country and the cost of living is high."

Mr. Fielding added that a vote for the Fielding amendment would be a vote against the League of Nations. Trouble. The claim of Canada for a separate place in the League of Nations, Mr. Fielding considered was unwise and calculated to create trouble. It had done so already in the United States, and though he had no desire to support the United States, he could see a certain amount of justice in their claim, that if the British Empire was to have six votes in the League the United States were entitled to more than one. He had suggested on a former occasion that the State of New York, being as important a part of the United States as Canada was of the British Empire, might make a claim for representation in the League of Nations with as much justice as Canada.

Mr. Fielding held that a special session of the House had been unnecessary, and that the country would pay $1,000,000 because it had been called.

Relations. He held there was no need of a change in the relations of Canada and Great Britain. He did not support those who were talking separation, but while he could understand their view, he could not understand the thoughts of the men who were forever claiming for Canada something which she had not done. There was nothing new in the fact that the King had given the Canadian Ministers powers. Mr. Fielding mentioned many cases in the past where Canadian Ministers had been given those same powers for the negotiating of a treaty and he said that in regard to agreements affecting Canada, there had always been consultation of this nation by the home Government within the last twenty or thirty years.

Not Apprehensive. Mr. Fielding saw no need to be apprehensive of the future. The British constitution had protected Canada in the past and had proved itself adaptable to all changes, and if the present system were continued he felt that any future difficulties would be surmounted as they arose. Canada would not be likely to have any voice in the Council of the League of Nations, said Mr. Fielding, in referring to Article 10 of the covenant, for while it was technically possible to give Canada representation, that course was not likely to be followed, since Great Britain would have representation on behalf of the whole Empire. Under the British North America Act no power under Heaven but the Parliament of Canada could order Canadian soldiers to fight overseas. "You lose this power if this treaty is approved without reservation," he declared.

In view of this stand, Mr. Fielding said he would ask the Government to join him in the amendment he was about to move, declaring that in approving the treaty, the Canadian Government was opposed to any impairment of the existing autonomous rights. He then moved, seconded by Ernest Lapointe, the clause noted above. Doherty's Reply. Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, said that while Mr. Fielding had declared that the man attempting to belittle the men who had gone overseas as delegates would only be belittling himself, the previous speaker had spent more than an hour in belittling his own country and attempting to show how useless had been any contribution Canada had been able to make to the Peace Conference. The House had been told to take part only in affairs which interested Canada, but had Canada no interest in international affairs? If the members were never to speak about matters which did not interest Canada exclusively, it must have been wrong to send men overseas in the recent struggle and to impose financial burdens on the people that would take years to liquidate.

Steady Growth. In regard to the charge of extravagance of claims as to Canada's status, Mr. Doherty asserted that there had been no change simply as a result of Canada's participation in the Peace Conference, but there had been a steady growth from colony to nation as from childhood to manhood. Mr. Fielding had spoken of Mr. Gompers and Mr. Barnes representing Canada at the Peace Conference as though men of Canada were of any use anyway. Yet there was a great working population in Canada which had its own interests and rights. They would not be protected by embers. On the International Industrial Conference established by the treaty, Canada would be represented by delegates of employers and employees, the same as the other nations of the earth, with the exception of the five great powers. That would not be accomplished by Mr. Gompers or Mr. Barnes. It was a right secured by Sir Robert Borden and Hon. A. L. Sifton.

Answered Questions. Almost a score of questions from members of the Opposition were answered by Mr. Doherty. The outcome of the exchanges were that Mr. Doherty explained that in any case where Canada might be called upon to make a contribution of men or money, she had the right to representation before any agreement was reached. The voice of Canada would be heard with that of the other nations.

Referring to the Fielding amendment, Mr. Doherty said that a declaration such as indicated would amount to a refusal to accept the covenant of the League of Nations. A vote for the amendment would be a vote directly against the covenant. It was impossible to accept the covenant in part or to accept subject to striking out a most important clause.

Lucien Cannon, Liberal, Dorchester, Quebec, asked what the Minister thought would be the effect if the United States Senate should accept the reservations placed before it by its Foreign Relations Committee. In effect, said Mr. Doherty, the United States would have refused to sign this treaty. In the covenant of the League of Nations, as at present drawn up, there was provision for amendments to the clauses and for the right of withdrawal if a member saw fit. It also had been agreed that at the first meeting of the Assembly of the League any member would be given the opportunity of urging his objections to the covenant and such objections would receive full consideration.

Withdrawal. Mr. Cannon asked whether Canada could withdraw from the League if she desired to, and who would decide whether she had fulfilled her obligations.

Mr. Doherty said that in the event of Canada withdrawing, the onus of proof that she had not fulfilled her obligations would rest on the nation charging her with non-fulfillment. Mr. Cannon then asked if Canada could withdraw from the League and still remain in the British Empire. Mr. Doherty expressed the view that Canada, being a distinct member of the League, could withdraw and remain a part of the Empire. Her status in the Empire would be decided by the other nations of the Empire.

PAPERS OF TACOMA APPEARING AGAIN

Printers Returned at Same Wages; Peace Settlements in Future

Tacoma, Sept. 12.—The strike of the news printers of Tacoma has been ended. This morning The Ledger reappeared after a suspension since last Friday, the men returning to work at 9:45 last night.

The publishers of The Ledger and the publishers of The News-Tribune, the afternoon paper, issued the following statement last night: "The Tacoma Ledger will make its re-appearance to-morrow morning after an involuntary suspension of six days."

Last Friday afternoon the members of the Tacoma Typographical Union went on strike after their demand for a scale of $9.25 and $10 for a six and a half hour day had been refused by The Ledger and The News-Tribune.

The printers, stereotypers, pressmen and mail room employees came back to work for the same scale and under the same working conditions which obtained in The Tribune Publishing Company before the strike. "The Tribune Publishing Company, however, has given its employees a written guarantee protecting them from any reduction of this scale or change in working conditions during the next six months."

The contract which expired on September 1, 1919, has been extended for a period of six months from date and a method has been provided in it by which a peaceful and legal method is outlined for settling any grievances which may occur.

An announcement by the local Typographical Union said: "The men have returned to work and an agreement has been reached satisfactory to both sides. The committee will issue no further statement until to-morrow or the next day."

BRITISH SCHOONER REPORTED LOST IN THE BAHAMA GROUP

Miami, Fla., Sept. 12.—Nine survivors of the crew of the Ward Line steamer Corydon, sunk in the Bahama Channel Tuesday morning during the hurricane, were brought to port in a weakened condition from being buffeted in a lifeboat by a high sea for two days without food or water.

An unverified report was received that the British auxiliary schooner Mystery J. was sunk and that nineteen persons perished during the hurricane near Bimini, an island of the Bahamas Group. The vessel left here Sunday laden with foodstuffs from New Providence, Bahama Islands.

THE HOPE OF THE WORLD.

Secretary Daniels pointed out in his address before the Canadian Club yesterday evening that if the peace treaty had contained no express provision for the protection of posterity against such a calamity as that through which the present generation had passed in the last five years, all the sacrifices that had been made by the Allies would have been in vain.

This is vitally true. There can be no material fruits of victory worth a fraction of the price that has been paid to achieve the downfall of Prussian militarism. All the billions that have been spent, all the territories that have been detached from their former allegiance and associations, could not restore the humblest life lost on the battlefield. The only adequate compensation for these sacrifices must be some great good for humanity, the making of a better world for the generations that are to come, whatever they might mean for the present generation.

If the treaty contained no such assurance it would be as vain and futile as the convention which arose from the Congress of Vienna, and the world would have inherited from the Conference of Paris as ghastly a legacy as it inherited from the gathering which dealt with the issues involved in the wars of Napoleon.

The covenant of the League of Nations embodies the best insurance for civilization against a world war that has yet been written into a treaty of peace in the annals of human history. It is not all that its advocates desired it to be. It had to meet objections based upon numerous conflicting interests and points of view. But it provides a common meeting-ground for the settlement of international disputes, and the institution it sets up will exercise a moral influence of tremendous power. By delaying hostile action it will be able to arrest the transformation of nations and peoples from the mentality of peace to the mentality of war.

This alone is an advantage of incalculable value. If, for example, the negotiations between Russia and Austria had been prolonged for a few days the great war might have been averted. The best proof of this lies in the fact that Germany, fearing in the renewal of exchanges between the Austrian and Russian capitals a peaceful settlement of the difficulties between the two, and also a subsidence of the war delirium of the German people, precipitated the conflict by her declaration against Russia.

The German Government knew that once the war fever was arrested the prospects of a peaceful outcome of international disputes would become greatly improved. If the League of Nations did nothing more than to delay and postpone armed action it would be entitled to the whole-hearted support of every civilized country, and there is no doubt that it has the approval of an overwhelming majority of the people of the leading nations of the earth.

ARTHUR HENDERSON'S VICTORY.

Conservatives, Coalitionist-Conservatives and Coalitionist-Liberals failed to elect their candidate for the Widnes Division of Lancashire. Arthur Henderson, the secretary of the Labor Party of Great Britain, and an ardent advocate of constitutional procedure as a means towards industrial reform, polled 11,404 votes and his opponent, F. H. Fisher, the coalitionist candidate, 10,417. This is the seventh by-election since Mr. Lloyd George's appeal to the country in December and six out of the seven contests have gone against the Government. Polling took place in the Pontefract division on Tuesday of this week, and before the month is out the ninth by-election will be fought in the Rusholme division of Manchester, with a straight Liberal anti-Conservative and a Conservative-Coalitionist as the two contestants.

Mr. Henderson's return to the British House of Commons appeared to be inevitable from the moment he decided to contest Widnes. Despite a smouldering opposition from some of the more extreme elements of Labor, because of his flat-footed opposition to the policy of "direct action," he was assured of the workingman's vote. Whatever views Mr. Henderson may have conceived for the future of the party he represents, he is four-fifths a Liberal at heart. On that account there was no disposition on the part of Widnes Liberals to enter a third candidate and virtually present the seat to the Coalition, whose usefulness to the country, Liberals of the Asquith wing consider, has spent itself long ago. Labor and Liberal anti-Conservative, therefore, must have voted solidly for the former member of the first War Cabinet.

At the general election last December Mr. Henderson was defeated. He faced at that time a somewhat formidable string of allegations challenging his enthusiasm for a vigorous prosecution of the war during the period in which he was an official factor. Coalitionists at Widnes revived the cry of "pacifist." It did not succeed. The Labor Secretary's return to the British House of Commons is an indication of the times. It will encourage the workingmen of Great Britain who favor same methods to bring about their conception of industrial reform. The Smillie wing will experience no particular jubilation.

In the Widnes result Mr. Lloyd George doubtless will see the necessity of deciding what his future political role is going to be. Mr. Henderson's return also may hasten Mr. Asquith's promised announcement of re-entry into active political life. But if there is to be a Liberal-Labor rapprochement the present Prime Minister would appear to have a good deal more to undo than his predecessor before he could be considered eligible for leadership. Present-day British Labor and British Liberalism never will join forces under a leader who remains unconvinced to the broad policy of nationalizing the vital industries of the country, whatever may be the merits or demerits of such a policy.

We doubt very much whether Mr. Asquith or Mr. Lloyd George will be able to qualify under such conditions, and therein lies the chance of a Labor landslide at the inevitably early general election. Britain may yet see a Labor Leader called upon to form a Government.

THE PRESIDENT'S TOUR.

President Wilson will reach Seattle to-morrow on a nation-wide tour the significance of which might not be fully realized on this side of the international boundary line. He is engaged in a campaign which has no parallel in the history of his country, a veritable political war with his opponents in the United States Senate, with American ratification of the Treaty of Versailles and participation in the League of Nations as the stake. His purpose is to enlighten the common people of the country on the advantages of the treaty and particularly of the covenant of the League, and thus to inspire them to exercise such pressure on the Senators that they will not dare to adopt the report of the Foreign Relations Committee which has just been submitted to the Senate.

That report was a political document full of specious reasoning. Its declaration that the other powers were bound to accept the amendments included in it because without the adherence of the United States the treaty and the League of Nations would be useless, was clearly designed to allay the fear in the public mind that the action of the Republican Senators might imperil the whole cause for which the Allies had fought. That declaration, of course, was entirely misleading, and nobody knows this better than Senator Lodge or Senator Knox. Both know that the treaty needs the ratification of but three of the powers and this is assured. It will stand as far as the ratifying powers are concerned no matter what the United States Senate may do.

The Republican Senators know well enough, too, that under no circumstances would some of the amendments submitted by the Committee be accepted by the other powers. The provision regarding Shantung is a case in point. To adopt it Great Britain, France and Italy would have to repudiate their covenants with Japan, and this they will not do.

Those Senators who are trying to use the treaty as a political weapon against the Wilson Administration may find that they have made a grievous mistake. The majority of the common people of the United States approve of the League of Nations, for the same reason that the majority of the common people elsewhere approve of it, and we shall be very much mistaken if they do not show the recalcitrants the error of their ways. The opponents of the treaty may yet most fervently regret that they took such steps as to make the presidential tour necessary, for if the President should win out the Republican party will be very badly damaged.

INDUSTRY'S BEST BAROMETER.

For the first eight months of the present year 385 new concerns were registered in the Province of British Columbia. In the whole twelve months of 1918 the complete total of incorporations reached 347. It will be seen, therefore, that for two-thirds of this year the number of new companies exceeded the complete total last year by thirty-eight. It should be noted, also, that for the month of August no less than sixty-one concerns came into being, a record for the holiday month. In the boom year of 1912 the number of registrations for August did not exceed forty-nine. These figures form a striking commentary upon British Columbia's commercial revival. They show to the outside world an unbounded confidence in the future of this Province. No better advertisement is needed for the investor further afield who is looking to western development for an inducement for his capital.

WOMEN'S INTEREST IN FUEL PROBLEMS.

(From Preface to Fuel Controller's Report.)
From the standpoint of supply alone there is no doubt as to the adequacy of our country's fuel resources to meet all future needs. The immediate problem is one of conservation, including the elimination of waste in our homes as well as in our factories. In the solution of this very important problem, the women of Canada may be expected to take a leading part. Remembering the splendid practical work they performed during the war, and recognizing that while retaining their grip on domestic problems, their influence will, as the years go by, be increasingly felt in public affairs, I feel that I may safely appeal to them, not less than to the men of Canada, seriously to study the facts set forth in this report and to help to apply the lessons of the past to the problems of the future.—C. A. Magrath, Ottawa, March 28, 1919.

CANADA, A NATION.

(The Daily Telegraph.)
Canada has become a nation in the very deepest meaning of the word, since the late King Edward visited it 59 years ago. Now in the hour of victory the Prince of Wales is on his way to visit this vast rich region of the Empire which the war has drawn together in fresh bonds. Once it was a colony, it devolved into a dominion, and now it has grown to the full status of nationhood. With this newly-found dignity it will extend a welcome to the Prince of deeper significance than it could not be more cordial than it offered to his father and grandfather. Canadians are happy in being the first of the overseas people to receive the Prince of Wales, but it may be assumed that in due course as opportunity offers His Royal Highness will visit the other dominions and thus accomplish what may come to be regarded as his education as future sovereign of the British Empire.

RETURNED MAN FOR PRIVATE SECRETARY

Attorney-General Farris Appoints Former Member of "Warden's Warriors"

After three and a half years of active military life, Harold Brown, of Vancouver, has been appointed to the position of Private Secretary to the Hon. J. W. deB. Farris, Attorney-General and Minister of Labor for British Columbia. Mr. Brown arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, and has taken up his duties this morning.

Wounded at Regina Trench. When war broke out Mr. Brown was a student-at-law articled to Charles Macdonald, of Vancouver. Early in September, 1915, he volunteered for active service and joined the ranks of the 62nd Battalion as a private. On the formation of the 102nd Battalion—Warden's Warriors—he transferred to the newly-authorized unit with the rank of sergeant, in which he was confirmed after reaching France. Arriving on the other side in the summer of 1916 Mr. Brown took part in the memorable engagements following the advance on the Somme, and was badly wounded at the taking of Regina Trench in October of the same year.

Six Round Trips. The nature of Mr. Brown's wounds necessitated long treatment in hospital, and removal from the active fighting units. For nine months after leaving hospital he was employed at Argyle House, returning to Canada for disposal by the Adjutant-General in March of last year. By reason of the fact that the German drive was reaching its height at that time few Canadian soldiers were being discharged and Mr. Brown received instructions to report for duty at Quebec under the Clearing Services Command. From July, 1918, until July of the present year he was engaged on one of their conducting staffs employed between Canada and England in the transportation of troops. During this period Mr. Brown made the round trip six times.

Born in England. Mr. Brown was born at Bradford, England, in 1873, and came to Canada twenty-four years ago, twenty-three years of which period he has spent in the Yukon and British Columbia. He is a married man, and will be called to the Bar of British Columbia next month.

CLAIMANTS TAKE CASES TO COURT

Writs Issued Against City For Damages For Injuries From Oiled Streets

Two suits have been instituted against the City in the County Court for injuries and damages claimed to have been sustained by W. R. Davies and W. E. Clark as a result of the City having placed oil on the streets. Writs were issued this morning by Frank Higgins, K.C., claiming damages amounting to over $100. The actions are brought as a protest against the indignities of some of the aldermen to the effect that these parties purposely encountered the oil in order that they might claim damages.

The claims are based on the charge of negligence on the part of city employees in placing too much oil on the roads; that they put up no warning signs; that they did not put any top dressing of sand on the oil as a precaution against slipping. Mr. Davies claims that he suffered personal injuries when his bicycle skidded and threw him to the ground. In the Clark case the action is brought in the name of Robert Clark, father of the claimant.

The trial will take place early next month.

REVIVED INTEREST IN FORMING OF INDUSTRY

Nicol Thompson and James Findley Call Upon Premier and Mr. Sloan

Nicol Thompson, of Vancouver, and James Findley, former mayor of the Terminal City and lately returned from discharging important duties in England, called upon Premier Oliver and the Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, yesterday afternoon on behalf of the Westminster Contract Company, Limited, for the purpose of obtaining data upon which to base a proposal for the establishment of an iron and steel industry in the Province of British Columbia. The Premier and Mr. Sloan were provided with a written memorandum of the varied information required, and the two visitors were promised that the matter would be dealt with at once. Mr. Sloan expressed the view that very little difficulty should be experienced in obtaining all the details desired.

In Police Court—One drunk was fined $5.00 in the police court this morning by Magistrate Jay, and two Chinamen charged with selling liquor were remanded until Wednesday of next week.

surrendered to the Bolsheviki, it is claimed in a Bolsheviki wireless dispatch from Moscow to-day. This raises the total of Bolsheviki captures from the Kolchak forces within a week to 45,000 men, it is declared.

A Bolsheviki wireless message yesterday claimed the capture of nearly 12,000 prisoners from the Kolchak southern army.

To-day's Soviet communiques also announced the capture of a number of prisoners in the Northern Dvina region (the Archangel front). These, it is declared, included some British troops.

Hopeless. Berne, Sept. 12.—The situation of the Bolsheviki in Russia is considered hopeless, according to reports reaching the Ukrainian Mission at Berne.

Slaughtered Thousands. London, Sept. 12.—A message filed in Omsk, Siberia, on August 31 and received here to-day says:

"Refugees arriving from Perm assert that the Bolsheviki, after the capture of the city, permitted Chinese and Hungarian detachments to pillage it for three days. After that an extraordinary commission began working and everyone suspected of being in sympathy with the Siberian army was shot. The number of persons put to death, it was declared, aggregated several thousand."

ning of this year. One correspondent from Toronto told him that the Union was still active, though illegal. "Good news is coming from India and Egypt," said this writer, "and we are burning with desire to do more work here."

He went on to explain that he was succeeding in smuggling prohibited revolutionary literature from the United States and was scattering it where it would do the most good throughout Canada.

Toronto Upheaval. A letter written last June to the accused said there was an upheaval in Toronto, but the Toronto "upheavals" were "weak in custom." The comrades in Toronto were getting the prohibited paper "Bread and Will."

"This," said the writer, "is our food and from whence all the sap of our movement is coming."

One communication from Dedonkin, secretary of Toronto of the Russian Workers' Union, was written in March.

Told by Players. Dedonkin said that good information had been given him about Bolsheviki successes and conditions in Russia by a troupe of performing Russians on a vaudeville circuit. They had told him that it had taken only eleven weeks to get out of Russia and that the people in the cities there did not starve when the supply trains were able to get into the cities with food. He added that the activities of the police had started a big exodus of "comrades" to Detroit, Mich. In fact he was going there himself.

The association had five locals in Detroit.

Some as Anarchists. Special Agent Durasoff, of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, testified that he had first seen the accused in April of this year. They were introduced to Karoba told him he was an agitator and organizer for the Socialist Revolutionary Party. Later he told Durasoff that the Russian Workers' Union was the same as the Russian anarchists, but was more easily carried on under the name of the Russian Workers' Union.

In conversation with Starckoff, Durasoff heard Karoba say that the foreigners in Canada were ready for revolution, and that the British Government was a bloodstain in the world, being worse than Germany under the Kaiser.

Prominent Easterner Here.—James Walter Allison, a prominent business man of Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, was a visitor in the city yesterday. A partner in the firm of John P. Mott & Co., chocolate and spice manufacturers, Mr. Mott is also on the directorates of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Co., the Eastern Trust Co., the Acadia Sugar Refinery, and of the Bank of Nova Scotia. He left last night for the mainland en route for the east.

tion move was due to the fact that the electorate was denied an opportunity of turning out the Government.

Delegate Brownlie, of the locomotive engineers, in opposing the motion, said that if the Government broke its pledges labor was entitled to use its powers to see that faith was kept with the electorate.

Press Comments. London, Sept. 12.—For twenty years the British Trades Congress had passed a resolution favoring nationalization, but the vote at this year's convention supporting Mr. Smillie's demand for compelling the Government to nationalize the coal industry brings variety.

The Daily Telegraph speaks of the resolution as equivalent to a declaration of war upon constitutional government.

The Daily Graphic describes it as a challenge to the nation.

Only Parliament. Several other newspapers insist that the only body which can "compel" the Government is Parliament. The Morning Post thinks that J. H. Thomas, who, it says, is an astute politician, is probably right when he anticipates that the government will refuse the demand and that another session of the Congress will be convened to decide what to do next.

"A Labor Government. "A Labor Government is not a remote possibility if labor leaders can show the country that they are responsible and business-like people," says The Daily Mail, a sentiment which is paraphrased by The Manchester Guardian, which believes that no Labor Government could come into being which had not the support of many outside the manual workers. The Daily Express speaks of the undercurrent of belief that a new Coalition Government may arise containing a large element of Labor and favoring nationalization of the mines.

Preemptory. The Times regards the vote on nationalization with calmness, although considering the language of the resolution rather preemptory and menacing.

The Times also prints a letter from Lord Asquith, the noted industrial expert, who says the miners have not taken enough trouble yet to prove to the general public that nationalization would be of common advantage.

CANNOT GET SALMON

Indians of Northern British Columbia Seriously Affected by Fraser River's Gradual Depletion.

Rev. Father Morice, of St. Boniface, Manitoba, called upon Premier Oliver this morning, and gave him some details of his tour among the Indians of Northern British Columbia.

The veteran Indian missionary informed Mr. Oliver that the Indians of the north are unable to get salmon for food from the Fraser and its tributaries, with a consequence that unless some relaxation on the provisions of a Provincial Order-in-Council respecting the killing of beaver can be obtained hardship will increase to a serious extent.

Mr. Oliver assured Father Morice that the matter would have the early and sympathetic consideration of the Government.

Families in Parliament

Chips of Old Blocks.

The present Parliament, like some of its distinguished predecessors, is not without its family ties. From the time of the elder and the younger Pitt, down through the glowing days of Gladstone, sitting in the last Parliament, onward to the present House of Commons with the Geddes brothers holding great offices, and Captain Terrell sitting near by his father, Mr. George Terrell, there have been a good many instances of family relations in Parliament.

Few have been more distinguished, of course, than the Chamberlain family, says Charles King in The New Illustrated. First, Joseph Chamberlain, once a mighty figure dominating the House of Commons; then his son Austen, suffering from being the son of a great father, but more than making good as a statesman in his own personality, and becoming a most striking Chancellor of the Exchequer. And now for the first time we have Mr. Neville Chamberlain, son of Joseph and brother of Austen, sitting in the present Parliament, after having been Lord Mayor of Birmingham and one of the pioneers of the great work of bringing together employers and employed.

Heirs of Long Tradition.

The Cecil family is one of the most remarkable in our Parliamentary history. One of them was a statesman of Elizabeth. One was Lord Salisbury, the great Foreign Minister and Premier in the reign of Victoria. At the present moment there are, among the Cecils, Lord Salisbury in the Upper House; Lord Robert Cecil, late Minister of Blockade; Lord Hugh Cecil, one of the most fascinating figures in the Commons; Lord Wolmer, a Unionist M. P.; Lord Wolmer's father, Lord Selborne, up in the Gilded Chamber, and perhaps greatest of all, Mr. Balfour, cousin of the Cecil, once Prime Minister, and recently a great figure at the Peace Conference and, in his own words, "a House of Commons man." Lord Wolmer had two grandfathers who may be called great grandfathers. One was Lord Salisbury, Prime Minister of England, the other Lord Selborne, Lord Chancellor of England. Lord Wolmer's mother was a Cecil.

Sir William Harcourt, one of Queen Victoria's Ministers, and a Plan-tagenet, had two sons in the Commons. One, the younger, Lulu, has become Lord Harcourt; Lulu's half-brother, Mr. Robert Harcourt, who has been an M. P. is a grandson of Motley, the famous historian.

Record of the Harmsworths.

Few family associations have been so remarkable in our Parliamentary history as the Harmsworth family. Mr. Alfred Harmsworth is Viscount Northcliffe in the House of Lords. His brother, Mr. Harold Harmsworth, is Lord Rothermere, also in the Upper House. Another brother, Mr. Cecil Harmsworth, is a Minister of the Crown, and yet another brother, Sir Leicester Harmsworth, Bart., is one of the best-known Liberal M. P.s. Thus, of four brothers, two are in the House of Commons, and the other two are in the House of Lords, and the latter one is on the Treasury Bench, making statements for the Government.

A father and son association that flourished in the Liberal House of recent time, but who are there no longer, are Russell Read and his son Walter Read.

Turning to the other great Party, two Unionist brothers have distinguished themselves, and are both in the House now. These are Mr. Geoffrey Locker-Lampson, formerly of the Home Office, and Mr. Oliver Locker-Lampson, happily restored to the House from the terrible dangers of his command of armored cars in the remotest wilds of Russia.

Lord Landsdowne has had a son, Lord Kerry, in the Commons, and there still remains in that House Mr. William Archer Redmond, son of the late John Redmond and nephew of the late Willie Redmond, both of whom were M. P.s for many years.

Neither Mr. Asquith nor Mr. Lloyd George has a son in the House, although the brilliant career of Mr. Asquith's son who was killed in the war was in many ways strikingly parallel with that of his distinguished father. Now and then one sees an M. P. of outstanding ability showing some boyish-faced young man about the House of Commons, explaining debates, pointing out personalities, or giving introductions to leading figures of the place, and it would not be surprising if many more sons in the future were fired with the political ambitions which brought their fathers to eminence.

When Miss Bonar Law spoke in the election at Glasgow on behalf of the Leader of the House, she said, in her bright, girlish way, "I want you to vote for my father."

It is not the custom, however, to use this simple phrase in debate. For instance, when Joseph Chamberlain was sitting in the House, the son, Austen, in order to illustrate some point in a speech just made, by the elder Chamberlain, said, not "As was said by my father," but "As was said by the right honorable gentleman the member for West Birmingham."

Lord Robert Cecil in a similar case would not say "As pointed out by my brother Hugh," but "As pointed out by the noble lord the member for Oxford University."

It is not unknown in the heat and light of debate for one relative to attack the position of another relative, just as ordinary members cross swords across the floor in apparent anger, and then go off together for a good dinner.

On the other side of the picture few who were present will ever forget Gladstone's courteous tribute to his bitter antagonist, Joseph Chamberlain, when Austen Chamberlain had finished making his maiden speech. Gladstone listened to the young man with deep respect, and then rose and, with a glance round at Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, said the speech they had listened to was "one to gladden a father's heart."—Tit-Bits.

Lady: "I should like to look at a flat which I see is to let in this building, but on one has answered my ring."

Man: "I'll show it to you. Come this way, mum."

"Well, this is something like. The rooms will suit; I am sure. What sort of a caretaker have they?"

"One of the very best, mum."

"Obliging?" queried the lady.

"The kindest-hearted gentleman to be found anywhere, mum."

"Honest?"

"As the day is long, mum."

"Is he attentive to his duties?"

"He's just workin' himself to death, mum."

"Well, I declare! I wouldn't lose this flat for the world. Where is the caretaker now?"

"I'm him mum!"

A BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Funny Spider.

Copyright, 1919, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis.)

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily Longears, the bunny rabbit, gentle man, was hopping through the woods not far from his hollow stump bungalow, he happened to be eating a piece of cherry pie.

It was a very nice pie, indeed, and Nurse Jane Pussycat, the muskrat lady housekeeper, had baked it for Uncle Wiggily. But every time the rabbit gentleman took a bite of pie a few crumbs of the flaky, white crust would fall off.

Uncle Wiggily, being a careful and saving rabbit, something like a Hop Scotch you know, did not like to waste those crumbs.

"I'll catch them in my tail silk hat," he said to himself. "I'll save the crumbs, and perhaps, in the woods, I may meet some poor little hungry creature who will be glad to get them."

On and on walked Uncle Wiggily through the woods, until at last he came to a grassy place, where there was a fallen log, with a green, mossy cushion, and down the bunny sat on that to rest.

"Now if I could find some one to whom I could give my crumbs," he said, "I'd be happy."

He was looking around, thinking perhaps he might see some hungry birds, when all at once a jolly voice cried:

"I see you but you can't see me!" "Gracious me, what a voice!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, looking all around but seeing no one.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! What I know about you-oo-oo!" cried the voice again.

"This is very strange," said the bunny, looking up and down and sideways. "I hear a voice but I can see no one. Who are you?" he asked. "If you are not too big, and would like some pie crumbs, you will be welcome to them."

"Oh, thank you, Uncle Wiggily!" cried the jolly voice again, and up out of a hole in the ground popped a funny spider lady.

"Oh, how do you do?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "I think you must be some relation to Mrs. Spin-Spin, the spider lady beside whom little Miss Muffet sat on a tuffet, are you not?"

"I'm her cousin," was the answer. "But I am a trap door spider. I build my nest under ground, and my front door opens and shuts very quietly indeed, so quietly that you cannot see it. That's how it was you didn't know who was calling you. I popped my head out in again and closed the trap door before you could blink."

"You must have done it very quickly," said the bunny.

"Indeed I did," answered the funny spider. "I have to be quick. Here I'll show you where my trap door is."

She pointed to something round that looked like a bunch of sticks and leaves piled together. With one of her legs the spider lady raised this round cover, and there beneath it was the front 'hall of her underground house.

"This is how I pop in and pop out!" said the spider lady. And with that she opened the door and she closed the door and she opened the door and she closed the door and she opened the door and she closed the door so fast, each time popping her head in and out, and smiling in such a funny way as she knew that he could not help laughing. "Will you please accept some of my pie crumbs?" asked the bunny politely, when he had stopped laughing and the trap door spider lady had ceased from popping in and out.

"I shall be most pleased," she answered. Then Mrs. Longears emptied the cherry pie crumbs out of his hat upon the ground and Mrs. Trap Door Spider gladly ate them.

"I wish I could do you a favor, as you have been so kind to me," she said to the bunny, as she ate the last crumb. "Perhaps I—Oh, dear me!" she suddenly cried. "Some is coming, I must hide!"

Down in her nest she popped and she pulled the trap door shut after her. Uncle Wiggily turned to see who was coming, and out popped the bad old Pipsissewa!

"Ah, ha! Now I have you!" cried the Pip, catching the bunny by the ears.

"Ho, ho! You have him, have you? But you'll soon let him go!" cried a mocking voice.

"Did you speak?" asked Pip of the bunny.

"No," answered Uncle Wiggily. "Who did?" asked the Pip.

"Don't you wish you knew?" asked the mocking voice.

"Wait until I catch you!" howled the Pip.

"You can't even see me!" mocked the voice.

The Pipsissewa looked all around, but he could see no one. And the voice kept on mocking him, and he got so exasperated that he jumped a back somersault and part of a pepper-salt over sideways and raced all through the woods, trying to find out who was making fun of him.

And while the Pip was doing that Uncle Wiggily slipped away and ran safely home to his bungalow. And not until then did the funny trap door spider lady open her door wide and laugh loud and long.

"It was I calling you!" she said to the Pip.

But when he turned around to catch her she popped down again like a jack-in-the-box, and all he saw was a little round pile of leaves and sticks stuck to the side, and he didn't know this was the trap door to the spider lady's underground house. So he had to run away without getting her, either.

So that's how the funny spider lady did a good turn for Uncle Wiggily, and if the clothes horse doesn't run away with the ironing board and leave the cake of soap without any place to slide down the banister I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the bumble bug.

Mrs. John Cochrane entertained at a dinner party at the Empress Hotel last night in honor of Mrs. Josephus Daniels, wife of the Secretary of the United States Navy. The table, set in the north alcove of the main dining-room was charmingly decorated with autumn blooms and greenery. The guests included Lady Barrard, Mrs. John Oliver, Mrs. J. H. King, wife of the Minister of Public Works, Mrs. C. L. McAllister, of Seattle; Mrs. W. A. Gallier, and Mrs. E. M. Brown, of the Women's Canadian Club executive, and Miss Cochrane.

In the vestry of the First Presbyterian Church this morning at eight o'clock, the Rev. J. Gibson Inkster solemnized the marriage of Peter Labie, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Labie, of Winnipeg, Man., and Agnes Helen Lane Radford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Radford, of 182 St. Patrick Street, formerly of Winnipeg.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of the bride's parents and a few intimate friends. The bride wore her travelling suit of grey tweed with smart little satin hat to match.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Radford left for Cameron Lake where the honeymoon will be spent. They will return here for a few days before leaving for Winnipeg where they will make their future home.

On Wednesday afternoon the Rev. R. M. Thompson officiated at the marriage of Bertram Thomas Hill, late 16th Battalion, C. E. F., eldest son of the late Thos. Hill, of Oxford, England, and Miss Violet Nicholson, youngest daughter of Mrs. S. Nicholson, 633 Belmont Avenue. The bride looked very pretty in her travelling suit of navy blue, with becoming picture hat in suite. Her one bridesmaid was Miss J. Gow, while the groom was supported by his brother, P. J. Hill. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hill left on the afternoon boat for Seattle and will spend their honeymoon in an automobile tour of the State of Washington. On their return they will take up their residence at Powderly Avenue.

Mrs. Inkster, wife of the Rev. J. G. Inkster, was visited by a "surprise" party of ladies of the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon, who called at the Manse at 1612 Begbie Street to welcome her home after her long absence in the East. The unexpected but welcome guests brought with them a "jam shower," scores of bottles of jams and preserves of all kinds being contributed by the ladies of the congregation. Their kindly and thoughtful acts were inspired by the fact that Mrs. Inkster's absence from home coincided with "preserving" time. The surprise party resolved itself into a pleasant little social function, the hostess serving tea. Mrs. Gibson thanking the ladies individually as well as collectively for their generous gifts.

Wednesday at one o'clock at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. Unsworth officiating, when Miss Dora Pauline Coburn, one of Nanaimo's most charming native daughters, was united in marriage to Major W. E. Ewing, M.C., C.A.M.C., of Vancouver, who spent over four years overseas on active service. The church was thronged with the many friends of the young couple. The bride, given in marriage by her father, J. W. Coburn, looked charming in a charming and Limerick lace trimmed with seed pearls. A long court train fell in most graceful lines from her shoulders, and her bridal veil was caught with a spray of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white bride roses. Miss Maude Williams, of Vancouver, who was bridesmaid, was becomingly gowned in yellow georgette with burnt orange velvet and picture hat, and carried a colonial bouquet. Dr. Fowler, of Victoria, was best man. Many guests from Vancouver and Victoria were invited to greet the happy couple at the reception which followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Frost, her sister, from Vancouver assisted. Later Major and Mrs. Ewing left on a motor trip, visiting the Sound cities as far as Portland. SMART WEDDING
AT CATHEDRAL

Nuptials of Miss Ethel Pitts and Thomas B. Pemberton Yesterday

Christ Church Cathedral was filled with a fashionable gathering yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the marriage of Ethel Margaret, eldest daughter of Sidney J. Pitts, of "Piermont," Rockland Avenue, to Thomas Blanshard Pemberton, 11th Battalion Canadian Engineers, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Busick E. Pemberton, of Cokes Green, Chalfont St. Giles, Bucks, England. Particularly charming were the decorations of the church. The chancel-rail was massed with hydrangeas, white dahlias and ferns, white hydrangeas and marguerites forming the arch under which the bride and groom stood during the ceremony. On the altar were vases filled with mauve and white asters, while the same flowers were effectively used to decorate the pillars of the church and the heads of the pews in which were the invited guests. The floral scheme was the work of Miss Pooley and other friends of the bride.

Colonel the Rev. G. H. Andrews officiated at the ceremony.

To the singing of the hymn "Lead Us, Heavenly Father, Lead Us," the bride passed up the aisle on her father's arm, preceded by the choir. She looked strikingly pretty in her lovely gown of ivory satin charmeuse, simply draped around the figure. The court train of lovely old Limerick lace was veiled by the cloud of tulle of her veil which, caught to the head by a fillet of pearls and orange blossom, fell to the hem of her train, where it was finished with a spray of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of opulent roses. Her only ornament was a handsome diamond crescent brooch which belonged to her mother.

The sisters of the bride, the Misses Marian and Gladys Pitts, were in attendance as bridesmaids. Both were gowned alike in georgette with an overdress of the same material, the former wearing powder blue with a deep sash of old rose figured chene silk, and carrying a bouquet of old rose chrysanthemums, and the latter in pale mauve georgette with deep purple waist-belt and a bouquet of purple asters. Both wore large black velvet picture hats with feather fantasies and wore the lovely pendants of old French paste, the gift of the groom.

Major W. P. D. Pemberton supported the groom, while the ushers were Capt. Alan Morrell, M.C.; Capt. L. de S. Dulka, D.S.C., R.A.F.; Capt. H. C. V. Macdowall, Capt. C. H. Pitts, Lieut. A. E. S. Pitts, R.N.C.V.R.; Lieut. R. A. Winslow, R.N.C.V.R.; Harold Wilson, and Francis J. D. Pemberton. The groom's gift to the best man was a pair of gold cuff-links and to the ushers a gold bar pin.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father at Rockland Avenue, Chalfont St. Giles, where Mr. and Mrs. Pemberton received the good wishes of their friends. The groom's gift to the best man was a pair of gold cuff-links and to the ushers a gold bar pin.

PEACE OF WORLD SECURED BY NAVAL CO-OPERATION OF TWO ANGLO-SAXON NATIONS

Stirring Addresses By Hon. Josephus Daniels, Secretary of United States Navy, and Admiral Hugh Rodman; Notable Canadian Club Event

Victoria's reception to the Hon. Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the United States Navy, Admiral Rodman and other visiting American naval officers, at the Canadian Club dinner at the Empress Hotel last night, was not only an enthusiastic tribute to the men themselves and the part the United States navy played in the Great War, but was portentous of the friendly relations that exist between this country and the great Republic.

Three hundred members of the Canadian Club and two hundred members of the Women's Canadian club attended the function. John Cochrane, president of the Canadian Club, presided. When he entered the hall with Mr. Daniels and Admiral Rodman, commander-in-chief of the United States Pacific fleet, the assemblage stood and cheered. Following Mr. Cochrane and the chief guests were: Admiral McKean, Admiral Parks, Commander Foote, Commander Hilton, Jonathan Daniels and Frank Daniels, sons of the Secretary; Premier John Oliver, Captain Martin, C. M. G., R. C. N.; Major-General R. G. Edwards, Leckie, C. M. G.; Mr. Justice Gallie, R. B. Mosher, United States Consul; Mayor Porter and others.

Behind the table at which were seated Mr. Daniels and Admiral Rodman were draped the Union Jack, and the Stars and Stripes with the British white naval ensign between. The gathering was the most impressive and enthusiastic held here in many years. The speech of Mr. Daniels and that of Mr. Rodman were applauded at frequent intervals and cheered at their conclusion.

In an eloquent, but dignified, introduction Mr. Cochrane painted a word picture of four great naval incidents in history that have laid the foundations of Anglo-American relations. The first was that of Mayflower with the band of Pilgrim Fathers, carrying with them the seeds of democracy, civil and religious liberty, sailing westward across the Atlantic from the shores of England. The second was that of the Boston Tea Party, 1773, which expressed the sentiment of the American Colonies of the autocratic treatment they

Plymouth to Boston, from Boston to Manila Bay, from Manila Bay to the North Sea, under the Providence of God, still hold the world within the charm and strength of its blessed circle, preserve our Anglo-Saxon civilization from disaster and ultimately secure for all mankind those liberties which we ourselves enjoy and which we are in honor and in duty bound to transmit unimpaired to posterity.

Secretary Daniels, who was given a tremendous reception, paid a tribute to the part Canada played in the war and the sacrifices her people had made. He referred to the treaty now more than a century old, which prohibited Canada and the U. S. from having fortifications along the boundary or warships on the Great Lakes. "That treaty," he said, "speaks trumpet-tongued of the brotherhood of the two people."

No Differences Between Peoples.
"Is it not more than that? Does it not preface the coming of the day, in the full fruition of the League of Nations, when other nations will feel sufficient security in international justice not to feel the compulsion of maintaining powerful armies and warring competitive naval building?"

"Canada and the United States during the century of neighborliness have indeed set the example for world emulation. We know each other too well for one to distrust the other. It is ignorance of each other which is the parent of most national misunderstandings and hatred. Intimate contact and close association have taught us that in our ideals, our hopes, our aims there is no difference between the people dwelling north of the invisible dividing line and those living south of it."

Mr. Daniels said that it was recognized at the beginning of the war that sea power probably would be the deciding factor, and without supremacy at sea it would be impossible to transport troops, munitions and other supplies to the battle fronts. He then told of Admiral Sims, and when the war broke out the President of the United States in selecting a naval representative to cooperate with the British Admiralty, chose in Admiral Sims the man best qualified for that important task. Admiral Sims was born in Canada, but there were other reasons why it was felt that he would be particularly acceptable to the great ally of the United States, Mr. Daniels declared.

A few years before the war in his speech in London the Admiral had stated that whenever the time came that Great Britain would be confronted with a foe in Europe the whole power of the United States would stand with her.

"The German Government at that time made representations to Washington against that speech, pointing out that it was unfriendly in tone," continued Mr. Daniels. "And the President, quite properly under the circumstances, reprimanded the Admiral, who was afterwards promoted."

Mr. Daniels described his recent visit to Seaport, about which few persons had heard before the war. In that visit he was the guest of Sir Roger Keys on board H. M. S. Lion.

In the Lion's Den.

"It was a case of Daniel in the lion's den," continued the Secretary. "From which, however, he emerged as safely as Daniel did."

He went on to describe his pleasure at the opportunity of seeing the Grand Fleet under such auspices during his visit, and referred scathingly to the ignominious end of the German navy. Those German ships were well built, with trained personnel, but had been British or American ships, defending a righteous cause, they would have come forth fighting and gone to the bottom in battle rather than surrender so ingloriously to an enemy.

"But the truth is," he continued, "that no matter how efficient a people may show themselves to be in some things and how well trained their fighting men may be, when, like the Germans, they are fighting for an unjust cause, something is bound to break in their manhood."

The first sign of the coming collapse of Germany, the Secretary went on, was the undermining of the enemy's morale, indicated by the mutiny in the German fleet of which numerous rumors were abroad for some time which finally were confirmed as facts. What happened was that the German sailors refused to enter the submarine service in consequence of the developments in the anti-submarine campaign of the British and American navies. As long as German sailors thought they had an even chance they were ready to join the submarine service, but when the chances were against them their courage broke.

Great Mine Barrage.
A big factor in the destruction of the German submarine service was

Who took the 47th overseas, and who it is expected will become head of the Fifth Regiment on its reorganization.

the establishment of a great mine barrage covering 250 miles at the northern entrance to the North Sea and at the Straits of Dover. This was the last step in a plan believed it could not be carried out. But it was finally completed and provided an insuperable barrier to the German submarines leaving the North Sea for the Atlantic.

"The knowledge that this barrage meant almost certain destruction played havoc with the German morale and the sailors mutinied when the attempt was made to impress them into the submarine service," he said.

Mr. Daniels told of some of the wonderful achievements of the two navies. One of the great difficulties which had to be met was in connection with the oil supply. The Germans sank a great number of tankers, practically more tankers than any other kind of boats. Finally a pipe line was laid across Scotland and the great fighting ships were able to get their supplies without difficulty.

When the United States entered the war, there was great apprehension as to the safety of American troops crossing the Atlantic. Parents were satisfied to have their sons go to France if they were given a chance of fighting for their cause, regardless of risk, but what they feared most was that they would be sunk by a submarine without having the opportunity of fighting. This problem also was successfully overcome by the two navies, and the great army passed across the Atlantic safely.

Mr. Daniels told a story to illustrate the amazement of a German officer at the number of American troops in France. The German officer had been captured by a detachment in which there were British, Canadian, French and American troops. The British officer was the Victoria Cross and the French officer the Legion of Honor. The German officer asked each how he had won his decoration and then exhibited his Iron Cross. He was before the days when Iron Crosses were selling at five cents a bushel. The German explained how he had won it. He then said: "I understand how your officers won your crosses, but what I want to know is how the Americans got across."

A Pleasant Visit.
Speaking of his present visit to Victoria and Canada, Mr. Daniels said:

"It is a pleasure to come to Victoria with men and officers of our navy to pledge anew and for all time the friendship which we have each to the other. It seems most fitting that the first exchange of greetings now that peace has come, should be brought with Admiral Rodman's fleet. During the world war Admiral Rodman, who is here on his flagship, commanded the American dreadnaughts which were serving on the North Sea side by side with the same commands and the same signals of the dreadnaughts of the British Grand Fleet."

"There was no point from the moment our countries were associated in the great adventure when our troops and sailors were not fighting as if they were not of separate nations and flying separate flags and reaching to separate national ends. But it is undoubtedly true, owing to the peculiar character of naval warfare, that the unity and comradeship between the navy of our country and yours was closer and more intimate than other joint operations. It is in fellowship, genuine and sincere, between men in Allied armies, but shipmates in the perils and dangers of the sea came into a common communion unknown to any dwellers on land."

Sea Power Determining Force.
"They fight not only the common enemy but those who go down to the sea in ships fight also against the storm, the gale, the fog, the thaw, the ice current and the heavy billows. War to them is only one more enemy they must encounter. This war added a new and insidious enemy to the sea, which had not before placed them in jeopardy. Submarine's murderous stiletto attacks upon vessels of all character gave to seafarers a new peril, one which no of the Grand Fleet towards the end of the war had been developed to such a degree of perfection that they knew the movements of practically every unit of the German navy. Submarines could not come outside their harbors without being pounced upon. Under these conditions, he said, the German naval officers and seamen soon realized that their efforts were fruitless, and that their doom was sealed.

"It was evident from the outset of America's participation in the war," he said, "that there must be unified command, a single directing hand, and we were willing and anxious to fall in line with the fleets of the other Allies under the command of Admiral Beatty. We recognized that to win results and to achieve final mastery over the German High Seas Fleet the American warships must become an integral part of the Grand Fleet. That was what I told Admiral Sir David Beatty when we met in the North Sea immediately after the American fighting squadron had joined the British naval forces."

"We adopted in entirety the British code of signals, realizing as he did that only by following identical standards could we attain a full measure of effective co-operation. The sixth battle squadron, composed of American fighting ships, which I had the honor of commanding, took part in all the operations of the Grand Fleet after the time of their joining with the Allies. Sometimes I was in command of certain manoeuvres. Sometimes I served under a British admiral. I made absolutely no difference. And as I recall my experiences I can think of no occasion on which there was the slightest friction or misunderstanding. We knew all the time that our joint efforts would result in the defeat of the enemy. Our acquaintanceship soon ripened into friendship, and the strongest comradeship that could exist on God's earth."

Votes of Thanks.
Premier Oliver moved the vote of thanks and in doing so hoped that Admiral Rodman's flagship would return to Victoria during the visit of the Prince of Wales. He said that the combined navies had met and overcome the dangers and the treachery of the enemy's ingenious devices with a fortitude characteristic of the Anglo-Saxon race down through the centuries. He declared that the war had brought together in bonds of common brotherhood the two great Anglo-Saxon nations, and he trusted that they would stand together in the future as a united barrier against wrong-doings. The great British and American fleets should be considered as parts of a single weapon to police the world and keep the seas free.

A. C. Flumerfelt, in seconding the vote of thanks, called attention to the universal self-sacrifice not only of the sailors and soldiers, but of the people at home in the struggle for their deliverance from Prussian tyranny. He made a plea for the continuance of the unity and fellowship now existing between the two English-speaking nations of the world, which, he declared, should be perpetuated in the interest of world freedom and civilization.

James Hunter sang "Shipmates of Mine." He was accompanied by Mrs. A. J. Gibson. This number was loudly applauded.

The singing of both British and American National Anthems concluded the dinner.

Return to Frugal Living.

"Now that the war has ended may we not hope and believe the wisdom of world's statesmanship will in a thousand years of peace? We have spent of our youth lavishly and lament our loss, but not without a touch of pride in their glorious service. We have burdened ourselves with heavy debt which must impose private and public economy. This is not an unmix evil, for there was need for a return to individual and governmental appreciation of the wisdom of frugal living. But that we have lost strong manhood in rebuilding up of our world we have the heritage that our race in our day has given the highest proof that we still love liberty and honor more than life and property. That realization will give us a new consecration as we take up the duty of reconstruction."

The Future in Peace.

"Americans and Canadians know they have only touched the resources of their countries. The same devotion to the common objects of history in peace that was dominant in war will bring new and larger prosperity than we have known."

The first step to national development is to secure international peace and to remove the fear that hangs over small nations. It is the glory of the English-speaking nations that they were quite wholeheartedly united in Paris to draft a League of Nations to garner the fruits of war as they were to win the peace which only eternal vigilance will preserve. America and Great Britain, France, Italy and other free nations which were united in war are united in peace."

"Both Canada and the United States have been settled by pioneers who have won prosperity by blazing new trails. Common hardships and common danger united the early settlers. Common heritage of free institutions has made us brothers. Magna Charta belongs as much to the people of the United States as to the people of Canada and the principle that all governments derive their just power from the consent of the governed is a cardinal doctrine of all English-speaking nations."

Secretary Daniels concluded with an eloquent plea on behalf of the League of Nations, pointing out that this great war was a war to end war and that unless something was written into the covenant which was designed to protect posterity against a repetition of it, the thousands of lives sacrificed to victory will have been lost in vain.

Admiral Rodman.
Admiral Rodman, who had charge of the section of the American Navy, working under Admiral Sir David Beatty, aroused great enthusiasm when he stood up after he had been introduced by Mr. Cochrane, and, in his rugged way, announced that the combined fleets had got seventy German submarines that were never reported.

The Admiral described the surrender of the German fleet and the steps taken to see that no treachery occurred. He also told how the fleet was sent to Seaport Flow "where it now lies doubly secure because it was to resist the temptation to show characteristic Hunnish duplicity when the Germans broke their word and scuttled their vessels in that harbor."

He gave an interesting description of the barrage across the North Sea and said that the intelligence service

VANCOUVER ISLAND NEWS

Sunday next is "Hospital Sunday" which is being held in connection with the movement to raise funds for the erection of a new hospital in Nanaimo. The programme in connection with the movement to raise funds for the erection of a new hospital in Nanaimo. The programme in connection with the movement to raise funds for the erection of a new hospital in Nanaimo.

A meeting was held Wednesday evening at the vicarage, Chemainus, at which A. R. Merrix, of Victoria, president, the Church Forward Movement being the subject of discussion. There was a very enthusiastic and interested gathering, but regrettably small considering the importance of the subject.

New Chemainus Mill.

The extra gang of the E. & N. Railway has been busy for the past week putting in a spur at the P. Pearson ranch, where the Sangster Bros. are erecting a small sawmill. The work of construction is well started and should be complete in a few months' time. The plant should have a capacity of three to four cars a week. With considerable timber in this area, there should be cutting for a good many years.

New Hospital Doctor.

The board of the Chemainus General Hospital has succeeded in securing a physician for the institution in the person of Dr. Watson, formerly of Ladysmith, who will commence his duties immediately.

Return to Thetis Island.

Major Alan Barrington Foote and Capt. Randle Barrington Foote, who have seen service overseas almost from the commencement of the war, have now returned and have taken up their residence on Thetis Island. These two brothers are well known.

In this district for their talent on the stage.

Albani Needs.

The regular monthly meeting of the Port Alberni Board of Trade was held on Tuesday. From the Nanaimo Automobile Association came a letter stating: "Dear Sir.—We greatly appreciate the prompt action you have taken with regard to the signs for Stamp Falls. Any time we can be of any assistance to you if you will just drop us a line we will see to it at once. We might state that at the present time we are devoting all our energies to directing the tourist traffic from Nanaimo to Port Alberni as the American tourist, at present, seems to think the only run on the island is between here and Victoria. We feel that any publicity work you can do to advertise the north end of the island will be time well spent."

The alleged lack of knowledge on the part of American tourists caused some surprise as it has been generally taken for granted that all tourists who wished to travel outside the immediate neighborhood of Victoria had all necessary information thrust on them by agencies in that city. It was decided to request the Tourist Association of the Capital City to examine the map of Vancouver Island and take note of some points of interest, particularly by this point, that might appeal to visitors from the United States if made known to them and be the means of acquainting them with the fact that there is a lot of Vancouver Island outside of Victoria and other drives besides the Malahat.

H. W. Brodie, general passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, wrote: "I am in receipt of your letter of August 25 in regard to rail and steamship service, and wish to assure you that we will give this question our most careful consideration, as we are very desirous of maintaining the very best possible connection between the mainland and your district."

Mr. Brodie's reference was to a request that the same direct connection as is provided at Nanaimo with Vancouver in the summer months be maintained throughout the year. The letter was filed.

In reply to a request from the Board that the section of the Canadian National Railway between China

Creek and Port Alberni be graded this year. President D. B. Hanna wrote: "I have your letter of August 19th in reference to the construction of our railway into your city. Under present conditions it will not be possible to make any addition to the programme already outlined for this year. However, when making our plans for 1920 your request will receive careful consideration."—Port Alberni News.

Tyrants and Traitors

By Harold Begbie in the London Daily Chronicle.

A fairly intimate acquaintance with the chief industrial centres of Great Britain convinces me that the number of revolutionists in these islands is very small.

But I am also convinced that the apathy of the multitude is so considerable that even a smaller body of determined revolutionists might be able to bring about, if only for a brief time, such an upheaval in the industrial world as would almost amount to anarchy.

That such an upheaval would be transitory is quite certain, not only because the revolutionists have no notion whatever of organization, but in that the most frothy exponents of a false economic theory, but because the good sense of the British nation would soon grow impatient of the havoc wrought by any violent disorganization of its ancient habits.

Although, however, I am not seriously alarmed by the secret propaganda long carried on in Yorkshire, South Wales, and Glasgow by a little conspiracy of immoral men as self-satisfied in conceit as they are intellectually contemptible, I am profoundly anxious for the peace and welfare of numbers of people in these islands who are now suffering cruelly enough at the hands of these plotters, and may be called upon to suffer an even fatal deprivation if anything like a violent upheaval should overtake British industry.

Facts For Consideration.

It is in the hope that this aspect of the question has only to come home to the heart and conscience of the average British workman, who is no fool and no monster, to bring about the discomfiture of the revolutionists, that I set down the following facts for his consideration. Scarcely a day goes by but brings me letters from unknown correspondents in different parts of England, suggesting that I should bring before the working classes of the country the sufferings of the writers, many of whom belong to the working classes, and all of whom are certainly in poorer circumstances than those enjoyed at the present time by a first-class mechanic.

These correspondents are either women or old men who have done their duty to the family and the state, and are now struggling, before they go hence, to keep head above water on their poor savings or their little pensions. They have no means whatever of adding to their incomes. The day has gone by when they could earn money. In many cases the day has gone by when they could even wait upon themselves.

The People Who Are Hit.

In one case recently brought to my knowledge, a girl handsomely employed in London and with excellent prospects before her, has been obliged to give up her wages, and sacrifice her career, in order to return to the country and there wait upon an invalid mother, who, up to this point, has been nobly struggling to support herself and a blind sister on the scrapings of a lifetime, but has now fallen into a great state of weakness that she is physically helpless. There are numbers of such people as these in Great Britain; and numbers of others who, through no fault of their own and no fault of the community, are able to earn only a very small wage; and numbers of others who, having faithfully served the state in various parts of the Empire, suffering in their absence from home a poignant separation from their children, are now living on the fixed income of a pension only adequate to their circumstances when times are normal.

To all these people every strike which seriously affects the cost of commodities is a disaster of great magnitude. But if strikes are to be prolonged, and British industry is to be held up for the sake of the vanity of a few immoral revolutionists, all these good and honorable people will be plunged into ruin.

So-Called "Wage Slaves."

The revolutionist is fond of describing the employer as a tyrant. He likes to call the workman a "wage-slave," although he knows very well that these "wage slaves" are absolutely free to exchange one employer for another, one district of the country for another, and even the country itself for any other part of the world.

The clerk in the Civil Service is, of course, less free than the workman; and under any conceivable form of Socialism, the workman could not possibly enjoy the same degree of freedom which now exists under the present conditions of individualism.

He is not a "wage slave"; and if one of his masters should be tyrannical he can throw up his service and go to another employer. But the workman himself, if he much longer permits the revolutionist to direct his conscience, will come to be the greatest tyrant who has ever existed in the history of man.

There is no human action which can be separated from moral considerations, and industry is perhaps more closely interwoven with ethics than any other factor in the national life.

Every workman is either a good or a bad servant of the State. If he does his best at his work, if in all his actions and decisions he is mindful of other people, if he is cheerful and temperate, a wise parent, and a peaceful citizen, then he is a good servant of the State; but if he does not work as well as he might work, if he is careless to the welfare of other members of the community, if he does not exercise his brain and his conscience in deciding all political and industrial questions, then he is a bad citizen; and indignant eloquence on the subject of his "rights" is so much disgusting hypocrisy.

Cowardly Action.

Does the workman realize that the present extremists in the trade union movement are fast making him both a tyrant and traitor?

Does he realize that to withhold his labor at a time when great masses of the world are suffering from something in the nature of famine is the cowardly action of a tyrant?

And does he realize that to hold up the industries of this country when Great Britain is staggering under a most appalling burden of debt is the action of a traitor?

If there are, of course, numbers of revolutionists who have bonafide morality from their thinking, and who even go so far as to express contempt for England in the high excitement of an economic cosmopolitanism, I have met a few of these people; I have been amused by their inordinate vanity and their inextinguishable ignorance; and I know one or two of them, very active just now in striving secretly to foment a revolution, to be rather trivial cowards, threatening all sorts of terrors at one moment and running away directly those they would intimidate stand up to them.

It is surely impossible to believe that men so contemptible and so ridiculous and so immoral will be able to demoralize the happy, cheerful, sporting, and just-minded working men of these islands, who have shown all the other nations of the world that real revolutions can be brought about without violence, and that changes affecting the whole field of industrial and political life can be created by constitutional means.

The One Danger.

The one danger lies in the apathy of the working classes. A few wicked egotists in Yorkshire and elsewhere are striving in secret, and behind various cloaks, to overturn the whole fabric of British life. Their intention is war. The Government will, of course, prepare for this war; it will prepare for it with the approval of the great mass of the nation; and the war, if it comes, will be one of the quickest on record; for there is no doubt that at the threat of violence all that is most strong, fearless, and patriotic in the British nation will spring to the service of a firm and resolute Government.

But even if the war ended in a week, and even if it at once brought the whole nation back to its authentic sanity, it would be a calamity of the most awful description to many thousands of people, and it would be an everlasting disgrace to England.

Shake Off the Apathy.

It is our duty, our most pressing

BEWARE OF DECEPTION

Statistics show that when egg albumen is used as a constituent of baking powder, the amount so used is too small (usually 15/100 of 1%) to affect the quality or effectiveness of the baking powder containing it, and when so used, is plainly for the purpose of fraud. Intelligent buyers will not permit themselves to be deceived by the water glass test.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

duty, to prevent this war. It can be prevented in only one way. The working classes must shake off their apathy, they must cultivate a more anxious interest in what is going on behind the scenes of the Labor movement, and they must insist that the tried and honorable leaders of that movement should take more vigorous action to banish the traitor from all share in the governance of the Labor party.

The average Englishman has no love for the tyrant and the traitor; he would be righteously indignant if he was called either a tyrant or a traitor; but if the English workman will rouse himself to think hard on the question, he will see that the revolutionists are driving him into a corner in which it will be impossible for him to act except as both a tyrant and a traitor.

The fortunes of this great country are not in the hands of any single class; but the little humble domestic fortunes of many thousands of people in this great country are almost entirely in the hands of the working classes. The workman is either putting out his strong hand to help those lame dogs over a very difficult stile, or he is striking them between the eyes with his clenched fist and putting his iron heel on their mouths as they lie whimpering in the dust.

Red Cross Wants Sweaters.—The

Red Cross faces a shortage of sleeveless sweaters for the soldiers in the local hospitals. The demands are likely to increase with the approach of the cooler weather and it is hoped that knitters will help to get up a stock of these necessary comforts. Wool for this purpose will be furnished on application at the Red Cross headquarters in the Strathcona Hotel on any forenoon except Saturday.

Donated Cup.—The Aerial League states that owing to a mistake, the name of H. H. Brown, 739 Fort Street, was omitted in the list of names of those who donated cups and cash prizes for the Motor Races at the Aerial League Meet, on September 1. Mr. Brown has donated a very handsome cup which was won by Mr. Featherstone with the Franklin car. Mr. Brown in the past has given great support to institutions of the same nature as the Aerial League, and the League regrets very much that his name was omitted.

Returns to City.—Among the arrivals on this afternoon's boat from Vancouver was Pte. J. P. Wood, son of Mrs. T. K. Loach, 1139 Hilda Street. He proceeded to Esquimalt Hospital for treatment. Pte. Wood, and his brother Harry came here from Oregon and joined up. The former left with the 142nd Battalion on February 9, 1917, and in April of the same year he crossed to France with the 8th Field Ambulance, later transferring to the 13th Field Ambulance.

Ball Committee Meets.—The general committee in charge of the Prince of Wales ball met last evening, when sub-committees reported progress on their various respective duties, and the success of the ball is now assured. Major F. B. Edwards and Lieut. A. Johnston, the sub-committee in charge of the decorations, have listed the services of Mrs. J. R. Green and Mrs. R. Baird. They have gone all over the accommodation to be used at the Empress Hotel and have laid out a very elaborate decorative scheme, arrangements for which are well in hand.

Home Products Exhibition
Plans Progress Apace;
Some Exhibitors

Days have been set apart for the Home Products Fair week of September 22-27 as follows: Monday, Opening Day; Tuesday, Navy League Day; Wednesday, Empire Day; Thursday, American Day; Friday, Island Day; Saturday, Children's Day.

Everything is in readiness for the big event as far as details of arrangements is concerned, and the following officers will have charge of the management: Fair manager, George I. Warren; executive, Carl Pedray (chairman), Mayor Porter, Alderman Saenger, Alderman Andros, H. S. Stevenson, Gordon Jameson, W. A. McAdam and W. H. P. Sweeney.

Space and arrangement committee—H. S. Stevenson (chairman), J. S. Keith, J. C. Richards, S. V. Halls, Alderman E. B. Andros, Herbert Kent.

Finance committee—Alderman Saenger (chairman), Mayor Porter, W. H. P. Sweeney and L. D. Rines. Advertising committee—Jamison (chairman), E. T. Myers, Victor Clarke.

Owing to the shortage of cars the local automobile dealers find it impossible to make a suitable exhibition, and therefore this feature, which it was expected would be added to this year's fair, will be dropped. The main floor of the Hudson's Bay Building will therefore be used.

Several of the local manufacturers have promised some interesting motion exhibits, and new exhibitors this year include the Crystal Springs Mineral Water Co., Hennie & Taylor, Wilkerson & Brown, Tibbets & Keys, Thorpe & Co., Ltd., Merrifield & Mack, Northwest Lime Co., Modern Macaroni Factory, Phillips Chocolate Shop, Miss Rosher, miniature paintings and the Rockside Farm.

The Department of Agriculture has appointed Miss Olive Hayes to give a daily demonstration of canning and preserving, together with lectures on domestic science.

A ten-piece orchestra will be on hand to furnish music every afternoon and evening during Fair Week. G. D. Davis, an expert in the handling of bees, will give daily demonstrations of handling bees, in connection with which a number of interesting features will be shown.

FLOWER CARNIVAL AT NANAIMO WAS GREAT SUCCESS

The members of the Women's Auxiliary Hospital Society, of Nanaimo, and their assistants from the membership of the Red Cross, I. O. O. F., and other local organizations are pleased beyond measure at the success of the Carnival of Flowers held in connection with the new hospital fund and which was brought to a close last night with a big dance in the Arena of the Athletic Club building which was largely attended and much enjoyed even though the condition of the floor was far from perfect.

The ladies are to be congratulated upon the success attending their efforts. Some idea of the amount of work they have put into the event can be gained when it is stated the carnival has netted a sum in the neighborhood of a thousand dollars. Despite unfavorable weather conditions the attendance yesterday afternoon and evening was quite satisfactory and at the close of the fair all stalls had sold their wares.

OFFICIALS INSPECT DOUBTFUL BUILDINGS

Mayor Porter, accompanied by about half the members of the City Council, were engaged all morning on a tour of inspection of buildings it is proposed to condemn and order torn down. There are forty-four buildings on the suspected list. The small number of aldermen to take part in the inspection and condemnation work was attributed to the unpopularity of the job from the point of view of its effect on the electors.

AGAIN SHOW INTEREST IN DEEP BAY PROJECT

English Parties Enquire From Government Whether Time Is Ripe

Development at Deep Bay on the east coast of Vancouver Island opposite Denman's Island, which was suspended at the outbreak of the war, is again interesting the promoters in England.

A large tract of land was taken up in the Deep Bay district by an English corporation several years ago with the purpose of establishing a community there. It was proposed to bring out settlers and built up a modern community with the development of shipping and industries on the upper part of the island.

Four or five months ago one of the officials of the company in England visited here on an inspection trip. He then said that development work would likely be proceeded with in the near future.

One of the interested parties, John H. Russell of 46 D Harrington Gardens, London, S.W., has just applied to the Dominion authorities for information as to the state of the property, and the application has been turned over to the Victoria and Island Development Association.

"The promoters' idea is to develop the place which is entirely uninhabited and virgin land as an educational centre, pleasure resort and harbor for yachts and fruit traffic to the mainland," states Mr. Russell.

"I understand that it would naturally take some five or six years, but what myself and other people interested in the scheme are desirous of trying to find out is if there is a want of such a settlement, and whether Deep Bay would be a suitable locality for such a project."

SELECT REPRESENTATIVE.

Balloting took place yesterday at Nanaimo among the underground employees of the Canadian Western Fuel Company for a representative of the Reserve Mine employees on the Pit Committee, the ballot resulting in William Thompson being elected over George Oswald by a vote of 545 to 176, there being 43 spoiled ballots.

The personnel of the committee, which is now taking up the matter of the new agreement, is as follows:
No. 1 Mine—E. C. Gibson (secretary).
Harewood Mine—Harry Todd.
Reserve Mine—William Thompson.
Protection—Thomas Smith (chairman), J. R. McKenzie.

OTHER TABLETS NOT ASPIRIN AT ALL

Only Tablets Marked with the "Bayer Cross" are Genuine Aspirin—Others Acid Imitations

"Bayer" Now Canadian Made—No German Interest—All Rights Purchased from U. S. Government

Aspirin means made by Bayer—has meant this for over eighteen years. The only genuine Aspirin!

The world's greatest physicians, jealous of their own reputation and careful of the health of their patients, prescribe "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin."

Aspirin is not German but is made in Canada, by Canadians, and is owned by a Canadian company. Unless you see the safety "Bayer Cross" on package and on tablets you are not getting Aspirin at all!

Look for the "Bayer Cross"! Then it is real Aspirin.

Don't accept Aspirin in a pill box. Buy a "Bayer Package"!

There is no substitute for genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," which have been proved safe by millions for Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Grippe, Joint Pains, Neuritis.

Proper and safe directions are in every "Bayer" package.

Boxes of 12 tablets—Bottles of 24—Bottles of 100—Also Capsules.

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacturing of Monocrotic acid of Salicylic acid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

DEFINITION OF WAR SERVICES

Militia Department Issues Schedule For New Militia List

All war service returns for the officers engaged in the Great War, to be recorded in the Militia list, must be filed. Details and forms are being circulated to district commanders, according to a notice in the Canada Gazette.

Those classes recognized are:
a. Operations in France and Belgium between August 5, 1914, and November 11, 1918.

b. Operations in Italy between November 3, 1917, and November 4, 1918.

c. Operations in Greek Macedonia, Serbia, Bulgaria, European Turkey, and the islands of the Aegean Sea, between October 5, 1915, and November 11, 1918.

d. Operations in Gallipoli between April 25, 1915, and January 9, 1916.

e. Operations in Russia since August 5, 1914.

f. Operations in Egypt between November 5, 1914, and March 18, 1916.

g. Operations with the Egyptian Expeditionary Force, between March 19, 1916, and October 31, 1918.

h. Operations in Mesopotamia between November 5, 1914, and October 31, 1918.

i. Operations in Persia and in the Persian Gulf since November 6, 1914.

j. Operations in Trans-Caspia since July 13, 1918.

k. Operations of the Aden Field Force between July 3, 1915, and October 31, 1918.

l. Operations at Shakh Sa'id (South-West Arabia) on November 10, 1914.

m. Operations in the Tobi Valley and Derajat between November 28, 1914, and March 27, 1915.

n. Operations against the Mohmands and Swatis as follows:
1. Under the command of Major-General C. F. G. Young, near Hafiz Kor, in April, 1915.

2. Under the command of Brigadier-General N. G. Woodlyatt, in August, 1915.

HOUSING SCHEME TO COME BEFORE OAK BAY COUNCIL

Forty Applications For Aid in Home Building Already Received by Municipality

Provision for furnishing homes for returned soldiers by means of loans under the Dominion Housing Act is to be considered further by the Oak Bay Council at its next meeting at the Municipal Hall.

Already applications from more than forty returned men who wish to make their homes in Oak Bay under the terms of the proposals have been received, and more are expected as the scheme develops and matures. The municipality, in order to find out the intentions and test the sincerity of the applicants, recently drew up a form to be filled in by the applicants requiring information from them on a number of matters. Twenty of these forms have already been filled in with all details and returned by applicants. Others are coming in.

The municipality has not yet decided what its attitude towards the housing scheme will be. Although the councilors are strongly in favor of extending aid to returned men to build their homes in Oak Bay, the attitude of the municipality may largely depend in the decision of the Victoria City Council comes to in the matter. The Victoria Council is still discussing the legality of the housing scheme and naturally the Oak Bay officials will be influenced it is said by the conclusion to which the Victoria aldermen come after their investigations.

In the meantime, however, Oak Bay is getting the machinery ready to proceed with the granting of loans if it is decided to proceed with the scheme.

There are many officers in the city who it is expected will renew their association, Brigadier-General R. P. Clarke, D.S.O., Lieutenant-Colonel Angus, Lieutenant-Colonel J. C. Harris and Major W. B. Shaw being among those interested in the re-organization. Major P. D. Stern is among the former officers of the Regiment expected back during the next few weeks.

Will Entertain Sir Arthur. Plans for a reception to General Sir Arthur Currie were discussed at last night's meeting. Sir Arthur had expressed a wish to meet the officers of the Fifth in the mess on his return to Canada, and it was decided that an officers' mess dinner should be held in his honor. The sergeant's mess and the other men of the Regiment are also anxious to entertain the leader of the Canadian forces.

"What is this we have for breakfast?" asked Mr. Newlymarried. His wife looked at him with troubled eyes. "It was to have been bacon," she said, "but poor cook's burnt it."

"Poor cook! I should think so, indeed," exclaimed Mr. Newlymarried. "Confound her. Have you given her notice?"

"Oh, no, we mustn't be too cross with her, darling," said his wife. "Won't you be satisfied with a kiss for breakfast?" she coaxed, archly.

"A kiss, dear?" repeated Mr. Newlymarried, suddenly pacified. "Call her in."

OAK BAY PREPARES BY-LAW FOR SCHOOL

Measure to Be Submitted to Vote of Ratepayers Before October 6

Oak Bay officials are now working on the by-law which is shortly to be submitted to the ratepayers for the building of a new and modern public school at the Willows. This school is to cost $65,000.

The municipality has found it absolutely necessary to take up the construction of such a school because of the recent increase in the population of the municipality and the large increase in the number of children of school age.

The by-law is now under consideration of the councilors and is to be finally dealt with by them before the end of this month as it is compulsory that it be submitted to the ratepayers before October 6.

ARMY AND NAVY TO ORGANIZE COMMAND

Provincial Body on Permanent Lines Will Be Established; Meeting Called

The movement which began to take form last May at a meeting in Vancouver when a provisional provincial association of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association was formed, is now about to take on its permanency and a meeting has been called in the Army and Navy Board Rooms, Pemberton Block, to take place next Friday evening, September 19, for the purpose of organizing a provincial command, elect officers and outline the general policy of the association.

The formation of this command is now possible, as permission has been granted by the new federal constitution to form provincial commands. It is expected that at next Friday's meeting there will be considerable discussion as to the location of the headquarters and it is likely to develop into a keen competition between Vancouver Island and the Mainland. Delegates from various parts of the province will attend the meeting.

BE A MAN'S MAN.
Brother, are you a Man's Man?
The sort that is fair and square?
Are you an intimate classman?
Of the fellows who do and dare?
Can you fight fate while you fear it?
Keep on though you want to quit?
Well, that is the Man's Man's spirit!
Of courage, and hope, and grit!

In all of your schemes and plans, man,
In all of your work and play,
Remember to be a Man's Man
And act in a Man's Man's way;
Which means you'll be strong, but gentle,
And just, but open of mind,
Not machinelike or sentimental,
But merciful, big and kind.

So build up your brains and sinew
For work that a man should do,
If the soul of a man is in you
You cannot be else than true;
And so, with your heart and your hands,
In seasons of peace or strife,
You'll work or fight like a Man's Man,
In the whirl or rush of life.

ESQUIMALT GARDENS GREATLY ADMIRED

Soldier Patients Have Excellent Exhibits at Hospital and Admirals Road

Since gardening was introduced for patients of Esquimalt Hospital under the supervision of the Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment Commission last year, this form of occupation has proved exceedingly popular, among the soldier patients under the charge of ex-Sergeant Freeman. Both on Admirals Road where the first garden was started and in the hospital grounds, where further gardens have been made this year the patients have more reason than ever to be proud of their work. Visitors to the hospital and those who have passed the small sections on Admirals Road have been considerably impressed with the excellence of the stock grown. Practically every variety of fruit, flowers, and vegetables in season are to be found, and horticulturalists would have little difficulty in selecting specimens that would stand up well in any show. The opinion has been expressed that a selection from the gardens should be made for competition purposes. The recent rains have helped the gardens considerably and always well kept they are just now looking at their best.

The large section of ground immediately at the entrance of the hospital gates and adjoining the tennis court have been placed under cultivation. It was started last year but has been extended this year and the S.C.R. instructor is justifiably proud of the results which the soldier patients have attained. There are several fine apple trees all bearing splendidly. From the selection of vegetables a first class collection would be made, the cabbages being particularly noticeable. The gardens are faultlessly kept and show all the signs of the experienced gardener who takes pains with his work.

Probably the most noticeable feature of the whole garden is the tomato plants which are especially prolific and perfect. One enthusiastic gardener declared that never in his experience had he seen plants so heavily laden with such perfect fruit.

ESQUIMALT TAX SALE.

The results achieved in the Esquimalt Tax Sale must be very gratifying to the Municipal Council. It again proves the truism that a regular policy of holding tax sales is the best way of municipal investment against piling up a large amount of arrears of taxes.

The ready sales obtained, the lots being disposed of within half an hour, is proof of the desirability of the district from the standpoint of residential property. In spite of complaints of ratepayers of increased taxation since the township was incorporated, the district has made great progress in the past seven years.

Little Billy entered a confectioner's shop and said: "Please, mum how much are them buns?"

"Well, my little man, I'll give you six for five-pence."

"Six for five?" said little Billy: "that's five for four, four for three, three for two, two for one and one for—nothing. Please, mum, one's all I want."

ESQUIMALT GUN CLUB HAS CLOSED SEASON

Twenty Thousand Targets Were Smashed on Admirals Road Ranges

A successful season of the Esquimalt Gun Club was closed with a practice shoot Wednesday night on the Admirals Road range. With the return of some of their members from overseas there were 40 marksmen on the club roll during the season and since May, 20,000 targets were smashed. No more events are on the programme until the week before Christmas. At that time the annual turkey shoot will be held.

The following scores were made at the practice shoot: F. White, shot at 80 broke 49; Lineham, Jr., shot at 70 broke 45; Bennett, shot at 60 broke 41; Lenfesty, shot at 45 broke 38; Hausenfratz, shot at 30 broke 26; Isbester, shot at 20 broke 16; Eve, shot at 20 broke 16; Jackson, shot at 20 broke 19.

RETURNED OFFICERS

NOW AT ESQUIMALT

With Closing of Irving House Veterans Are Housed at Hospital

Returned officers who were formerly housed at Irving House Hospital are now provided with quarters at Esquimalt Hospital, several changes in the arrangement of the institution having been made to accommodate the extra number of patients thus placed on the strength of the institution.

Opens To-day.

One building which was started at the rear entrance to the hospital before the $250,000 contract was cancelled has been turned into a ward, and will be opened to-day. It will be a comfortable ward of 18 beds with slipper and shower baths adjoining.

The new building will help to add to the necessary increase in the number of beds at the hospital as a result of the influx of officers. Thirty-three officers are accommodated at the hospital at the present time. Most of them have been provided with quarters in the main building which is known as the administrative block. One small room adjoining St. Patrick's accommodates five officer patients.

A well equipped library, reading and writing room have been provided for them in the room in the main building formerly used as the Orderly room.

Lady—"How romantic you must have found the vines of France, the olives of Italy, the oranges and citrons of Palestine."

Demobilized Cockney—"Not me. Give me the coco-nuts of 'Ampstead every time."

MUST SLOW DOWN FOR STANDING CARS

Stationary Street Cars Have Privileges; Case in Esquimalt

Prosecutions are fairly frequent for failing to stop automobiles when a street car is setting down and taking on passengers. However, the first case in Esquimalt, and possibly in this district was taken in the Esquimalt Police Court yesterday, where a motorist coming from the opposite direction was fined for driving past a car discharging passengers at a greater speed than four miles an hour.

Chief Palmer happened to see a case where a passenger alighting from the stationary street car had a narrow escape from an automobile coming in the opposite direction on Esquimalt Road. He prosecuted the defendant, H. Edmonds, before Magistrate Jay yesterday afternoon, and a fine of $5 was imposed.

O. O. Lloyd and J. H. Hedley were both fined $15 for speeding.

The case against R. White of assaulting Harold Stratford was dismissed.

Sou Kee and Hong Yick were both fined $15 for an infraction of the Factories Act.

A PILGRIM SCHOOL

In the Footsteps of Mr. Squeers.

By Sydney Walton in The London Daily Chronicle.

On this stretch of heather, a stone's throw from Dotheboys—for Squeers was a pioneer of open-air schools—we are spending the first days of summer. The breezes which come across the heather was blowing the dust of cities from our souls. Wordsworth, the singing priest of Nature, lived just beyond the hills; and, somehow or other, the winds bring snatches of his song. Can it be that his pages seem strange to us city-born, when we read them by gas-light, and now are clear and wonderful on this lonely heath? Perhaps Nature is acting the priest to him. I have never learned from harsh chalk-dusty blackboards what I am learning now from the pages of earth's green book.

That is a rare night, never to be forgotten, when first the stars serve you for candles and the daybreak and the dew are beholden not as in a glass darkly, but face to face. In bedrooms, says our "Head," men simply become unconscious, and busy care draws phantoms and fantasies in their brains; but with no other curtain than the distant horizon and the closed eyelid, sleep is in draught from Elysian wells.

The sleep among the lonely hills, the grandeur of that experience, is ours at every fall of night, and sometimes at noon.

A Son of the Hills.

I must tell you how it all came about that we are up here beyond Barnard Castle and its hoary walls, up where the heather will spread a purple mantle at our feet, and drench it with incense.

Our "Head" is a son of the hills, and though now he teaches in a city school, the poetry of his cradle is still part of him. The honeysuckle calls him—the honeysuckle about these white cottages which mark the feudal lordship of the Barnards and stretch in a white string from Calderon Shout to Stockton-on-the-Tees. A summer breeze, a fancy from a flower-bell, and this exile in the market places of men fills with longing for the native hills, fair with flower in midsummer, and beautiful with snow and moonbeam in December.

So he called us together one night and poured out his heart. "These lads of mine," he went on passionately. "never see the country, the river in its purity, and the trees standing by knee-deep in flowers; they never scent the new-mown meadows and wrestle with the invisible wind as the patriarch wrestled on the bleak moor; and isn't it vain to introduce them to literature which they cannot understand within the space of four walls? Great poetry is read and written under the open sky."

And much more to the effect of a blurred birthright, and industrial ugliness to gaze upon instead of the architecture of God. Finally, he proposed a canvas-painting school. This borrow of a schoolmaster, and asked our assent. We cried a glad yes, and next morning a gale of excitement swept the school when the whisperer swept the school when the whisperer swept the school.

The Battle of the Ages.

There were details to arrange. For one thing, red tape is as strong as a serpent's coil, and it took days before the Local Authorities—if ever a spelling were a picture those two words with capital letters present the stubborn front of a pyramid—could be convinced that real learning sometimes dwells in unlikely places, gracing a bit of tattered canvas or a hut of straw. But, indeed, that is the battle of the ages to convince men that truth may enter in at lowly doors, a casual wayfarer, and that it is not always found in the synagogues.

Dr. Rouse is pleading for school colonies, for garden cities at child's feet, and all the eyes of blood within one's veins focus in response. And Matthew Arnold, H. M. Inspector of Schools, did not he sing of that scholar-truism of whom "the grave Gleaner did the tale-inscribe?" After the 25th letter and a series of impromptu interviews we prevailed upon "Pharaoh" and made ready for the wilderness.

"I would have no school indoors from April to October," said our "Chief" as we sometimes call him, to the astonished committee: "I would get out into the country and let the boys glean the lore of nature and the old battles back again, and a vanished history, in the fields of their island home. In the winter they can come back to their books, and with them they will bring a thousand torches."

And amid a stately rubbing of eyes, our art master spoke up and told of fishermen he met and a boy who had no trace of bookishness, but were learned in the mysteries of land and sea, and truly cultured thereby. The restoration of wonder, that was the key-note of this scholastic heresy, and I could not but remember Mr. Watts-Dunton's famous essay, in which he shows that what the Elizabethans had and the eighteenth century rhymers had not was simply large wonder-eyes, which looked out upon the sky as if it were symbolic tapestry, and man, no less.

"Wonder School" and "Wonder School"—that we shall call these flimsy tents on the fringe of West-morland where "there we are, on the heath; brother, and life is sweet."

The Path of Squeers.

We followed as nearly as we could the path of Squeers and Nickleby from the old inn at Barnard Castle up the steep white ladder of road to these glorious hills. And the villagers tell us that the old pedagogue was not so bad as he was painted, and, indeed, I met an old lady whose mother, she said, would have fought to do with Dickens after that disgraceful travesty!

One of those pale-cheeked city-lads rising about me at this moment, to whom the rose of health is coming back, told me he himself would have forgiven Squeers in gladness for being brought here, and truly this sweet mountain air, which turns everything to music, might have softened into melody the shrill tongue of Mrs. Squeers even in its most violent moods.

Our curriculum is life and play, and bivouacking when the sun goes down. There's the stretch of hill and dale and beautiful caprice of cloud and sun, with rivers in their faint first beginnings, and all the geological warp and woof of which these hills are built—that's for nature study, for geography, if you will; and, hence better it is and livelier and healthier than reciting the capes of Britain. And for history—this Westmorland is rich, and we have begun to interrogate names of places and that final "by" in Kirkby and a dozen others which brings us upon an ambush of Dunes. For literature we are wandering into the Lake District, and for imagination, which is the blue bird of literature, its wing is over us all the while. The great glad earth is our Wonder School.

THE HAT TRICK.

Flushed and breathless, the bloom of sport upon his cheek, the panting, bald-pated, twenty-stoner picked up the bowler he had been chasing down the street, and then leapt up against a lamp post to gain breath.

It had been a desperate chase, but, thank goodness, he had his hat at last! "Phew!"

"Another, also breathing heavily, came pounding up, and snatched the head-gear out of his hand.

"Much obliged!" gasped the new-comer.

"For what?"

"This is my hat."

"Your hat?" gasped the twenty-stoner. "Then where is mine?"

"Behind you," replied the other, "at the end of a string."

And then, for the first time, the twenty-stoner remembered the hat-guard his winsome wife had made him wear.

SUSPENDED MAYS AFTER HIS SALE

Was Waiting to See How Boston Club Would Handle Insubordination

New York, Sept. 11.—Ban Johnson, president of the American League, admitted to-day on the witness stand before Referee George J. Gillespie that he was interested in the Boston American League club, who that club was owned from 1911 to 1914, by James McAleer and Robert McRoy. The latter, now deceased, formerly was Johnson's personal secretary.

The testimony as given at a hearing before trial of the New York club's suit to restrain him permanently from interfering with the use of Pitcher Carl Mays, recently purchased from Boston. Johnson said he did not suspend Mays immediately upon learning of his alleged insubordination because he was waiting to see what the Boston club would do in the matter. He said that he suspended the player after he read a newspaper account of his sale to the New York club. He also defended his right to employ umpires in getting facts concerning discipline on the field and said he was within his rights in requesting Umpire Hildebrand to question Boston ball-players and ascertain all the facts in regard to Mays' conduct on July 15.

Referee Gillespie has not announced when he would arrive at a decision, but said his answer would be delivered to Justice Robert Wagner, of the New York Supreme Court, who is hearing the Mays case.

ZIMMERMAN IS OUT FOR THE REST OF SEASON

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Heinie Zimmerman, star third-baseman of the New York Giants to-day was suspended for the balance of the season without pay, according to Manager John McGraw. The manager declared that his reason was because of Zimmerman's violation of the club rules.

The feature race of the afternoon was the 2:25 pace, Hi Ho first; May Day Hal second; Ray Powell third. Best time 2:15 1-4.

The next race was the 2:22 trot; Bonkin won all three heats easily. Best time 2:25 1-4.

In the running race there were six entries: Bazzara won; Nanaimo King second.

STAR ATHLETES ARE AFTER NATIONAL TITLES

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—Star athletes from nearly every state in the Union were entered for competition in the two days' track and field meet for the National A. A. U. championships, which started to-day at Franklin Field. The entry list was one of the largest in the history of the games, 345 men being listed for the junior events and 171 in the senior meet. Nineteen events were on each day's programme.

INTERNATIONAL TEAMS.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Three matches played and three Saturday will be played in the international tennis events between Australians and Americans on the hard courts of the South Shore Country Club here.

VICTORIA STICKHANDLERS ROMPED HOME IN FIRST GAME OF SERIES

With Bernie Feedham and Joe Painter in Scoring Mood, Cotton's Men Beat Edmonton Eskimos by Nineteen to Four

(From a Times Correspondent.)

"Edmonton, the Alberta champions, went down before the Victoria Foundation stickhandlers at Winnipeg by a score of nineteen to four, writes a Times correspondent from Winnipeg. Not only Cotton himself and his little party think the men from British Columbia are sure of the ten-men-side championship of British Columbia, but most lacrosse fans who saw them in action have come to the conclusion that the big reputation that the coast players went to Winnipeg with was not an exaggerated estimate of their stickhandling ability."

Tore Right In.

"The Victoria shipbuilders tore right into the game from the start yesterday, and bombarded the Edmonton ciadel. They hung up seven counters before the first one was put past Jake Davis and had a comfortable seven to two lead before the first stanza ended. "Again in the second period Victoria increased their lead by five more, making the score twelve to two before the Alberta champs found the net. In the fourth period Victoria took the score from 15-4, as it stood at the beginning of the last act to 18-4. They played wonderful systematic lacrosse to the last minute and the defence men were practically invincible. "F. Waghorn of Toronto, and Jim Findlay of Winnipeg, officiated as referees. Today the Foundation gutted-stick experts have another easy step to

LATEST RACING RESULTS

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 12.—A heavy rain prevented completion of the Grand Circuit programme yesterday. Nearly 10,000 spectators waited from 1 o'clock until shortly after five when a field of horses got away in the 2.0 pace which was won by Esther R. Best time 2:07 1-4.

The 2:18 trot for amateur drivers was won in straight heats by Qui Salt, driven by Pierre Lorillard of Tuxedo Park. Best time 2:15 1-2.

Vancouver, Sept. 12.—In spite of the rain that insisted on making things miserable yesterday, visitors at the exhibition were treated to some of the best horse racing yet put up for the public at this year's meet. Although the track was rather heavy from the rain some very good time was made in the various events.

The feature race of the afternoon was the 2:25 pace, Hi Ho first; May Day Hal second; Ray Powell third. Best time 2:15 1-4.

The next race was the 2:22 trot; Bonkin won all three heats easily. Best time 2:25 1-4.

In the running race there were six entries: Bazzara won; Nanaimo King second.

RUSH ON TICKETS FOR WORLD SERIES

Over 200,000 Fans Have Already Made Application For Pasteboards

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Long lines of persons waited to enter the Cincinnati National League baseball offices here this morning to receive cards on which applications for world's series seats must be written. The application cards read for tickets for the first three games. No single tickets will be issued. The prices for world series games were given on application cards as follows: Grandstand, reserved, $5.50; grandstand, reserved (upper), $3.50; field boxes, $6.60; pavilion (unreserved), $2.20; and bleachers (unreserved), $1.10.

A "notice" is printed on the application card which says the applicant agrees that the method adopted by the club for the distribution of tickets is not a lottery scheme. August Hermann has announced that it is intended to place the names of the applicants for tickets in a basket, and if the pennant is won by the Cincinnati Reds, held a drawing of these cards to distribute the available seats. Hermann said to-day his office had been swamped by applications for world series seats, already numbering more than 200,000, and that his plan to hold a drawing is the only way out of the difficulty.

CLUB TROPHIES NOW ARE ON EXHIBITION

Fifty Cups and Silk Banners Which Were Won Make Fine Showing

Through the kindness of W. & J. Wilson, of Government Street, the J. B. A. A. are, during the next week, displaying the trophies won by the club's crews and teams since organization in 1890. The cups numbering nearly fifty and the silk banners make a very fine showing indeed, and well worth inspection.

Many of the cups are the permanent property of the club having been won outright in open competition, others are challenge cups to be won three times by a club before permanent possession is given. Next year in the rowing season the club are determined to put in the boats crews that will do their best to retain the cups won by present and former members in challenge races, so that the club may become the permanent owner of those trophies.

Rugby and Soccer Teams. Good progress is being made by the committees selected to look after the above branches of sport, and many members have signified their intention of again donning the colors of the J. B. A. A. on the football field. Any other members or players wishing to represent the club are asked to get in touch with W. B. Monthy or B. D. Travis, of the Rugby Committee, or H. Skuce, of the Soccer Committee.

Committee Meeting. The committee meeting held in the club rooms last night was adjourned until Tuesday night next at 8 o'clock in the club rooms, when all members are requested to be on hand.

OUT FOR THE SEASON

HEINIE ZIMMERMAN who has been ruled out of the game for the rest of the season.

COAST LEAGUE INCLUDED IN POST SEASON SERIES

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 12.—Under tentative plans announced here to-day by President Thomas J. Hickey, of the American Association, the winner of the association pennant will play the champions of the Pacific Coast League and the association team which finishes second will play the Baltimore team, which has the International League pennant sewed up.

Original plans had called for post-season series in which the champions of the three leagues are to meet. The change Mr. Hickey said, was the result of the difference in closing dates of the league seasons and the disinclination of Mike Kelley, manager of the St. Paul club, American Association leader, to make the long jump from St. Paul to Baltimore and thence to the Pacific Coast. President Hickey said he has submitted his plan to Manager Dunn, of the Baltimore club and officials of the Pacific Coast League, where Vernon and Los Angeles are in a close race for the pennant.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Stars of three continents were carded to meet to-day at the South Shore tennis courts in the first of a series of international matches arranged by the club. Perhaps greatest interest centered about the meeting of Gerald L. Patterson and Norman E. Brookes, of Melbourne, and William M. Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin, of San Francisco.

Horsey One—"Ever lost much money backing horses?"

Carman—"Lost ten quid once. I backed two horses, and the van went through a shop window."

CRICKET SCHEDULE RUNS INTO OCTOBER

TOMALIN CUP YET TO BE PLAYED FOR

According to the programme of cricket it looks as though the summer game will run well into October. Three more weeks will be necessary to complete the city league schedule and if the possible tie up is created the season will run past the three weeks. A game between the Victoria League leaders and the Mainland League leader is also on the schedule. The following four games which were postponed from August 23rd, will be decided to-morrow, weather permitting.

Foundation Wanderers v. Albion at Work Point.
Congratulatory v. Foundation Ramblers at Beacon Hill.
Incogs v. Five C's at Oak Bay.

Victoria v. Christ Church at Jubilee Hospital.

A replay between Christ Church and Victoria has yet to be decided. The games on the schedule for August 19 have also yet to be decided.

A Game Ahead. The Victoria club is a game ahead at present, but Saturday they will field a weak team, being without the services of the three Gillespie brothers and Will York. If the Incogs and the Albion win both of their games there will be a three cornered tie for first position between the Incogs, Albion and Victoria. Christ Church team have a chance to upset all calculations if they can defeat the Victoria eleven.

Following the final of the city championship the Tomalin Cup has yet to be played for. The trophy is up for competition between the winners of the Victoria League and the Mainland League.

BUSY BASKETBALL SEASON ASSURED

Five House Leagues and Sunday School League on "Y" Floor

October sees the commencement of a busy basketball season at the Y. M. C. A. W. W. Duncan reports that no less than five house leagues will be in full swing by that date and he anticipates that there will be keen competition in every league. Basketball stands ahead as among the most popular sports of the Y. M. C. A. members, and the five leagues are necessary to give all the players an opportunity of getting into the game.

The Sunday School League will be revived again this season, and the use of the floor will be allowed the Sunday School players Wednesdays and Saturdays.

WINTER SWIMMING FOR MEMBERS OF Y.M.C.A.

SOCGER TO-MORROW

Swimming activities at the Y. M. C. A. will be continued during the winter and tentative plans have been made for several winter games to be held. C. F. Foxall, who acted as secretary of the Y. M. C. A. camp, has taken over the duties of secretary of the Swimming Club.

A practice soccer game between the Foundation players and the G.W.V.A. is on the cards for Wednesday evening. The Royal Athletic Park will be the venue.

AND THE JUDGE SAT UP. A celebrated judge was once trying a case where the accused could only understand Irish, and an interpreter was accordingly sworn. The prisoner said something to the interpreter, and the latter replied:

"What does he say?" demanded the judge.

"Nothing," my lord.

"How dare you say that when we all heard him. Come, sir, what was it?"

"My lord," said the interpreter, beginning to tremble, "it had nothing to do with the case."

"If you don't answer I'll commit you, sir. Now, what did he say?"

"Well, my lord, you'll excuse me, but he said, 'Who's that old woman with the red bed curtain round her, sitting up there?'"

"At which everybody present roared. And what did you say?" asked the judge, looking a little uncomfortable.

"I said, 'Whist, ye spalpeen! That's the old boy that's going to hang yet!'"

Slippery Sam had been brought before the court on a charge of chicken-stealing. A great deal of very damaging testimony had been submitted to the court, and things were looking very serious for the prisoner. There was no lawyer present to defend him, and when the prosecution had completed its case the magistrate turned to Sam and said:

"You are charged with stealing chickens; have you any witnesses?"

"No fear," answered Sam, with emphasis. "When I steal chickens I don't have no bloomin' witnesses!"

Our Method: Twenty Sacks of Coal to the Ton and 100 Pounds of Coal in Each Sack

Wilson's Snipe

This bird ranges over the whole of North America and the northern part of South America, and is usually found on marshy ground. The favorite feeding grounds are river meadows and moist land along small streams. Like the woodcock, it gets its living by boring in the ground.

By some hunters it is considered the finest of game birds, and it surely surpasses many birds on the table. It rises quickly and has a great reputation for artful dodging. It lies well to a dog particularly on still, warm days, but where the birds are very numerous the dog is likely to become confused and useless except for retrieving. This bird rarely travels in flocks. It migrates largely at night.

The lady at 23b, Poppings Court, was regarded by her neighbors as rather swanky, especially when she had a family photograph taken. One morning she passed it over the back fence to the lady at No. 23a with a badly concealed air of pride. "Quite pretty," said No. 23a, who was hurrying with envy, really. "But do I know them?" snorted No. 23b. "Knew them," snorted No. 23b. "Well, what a difference a good wash makes, to be sure!"

"PARLIAMENT" OF SINN FEIN ENDED

Government Issues Order Sinn Feiners' Assembly Be Suppressed

Dublin, Sept. 12.—The Sinn Fein "Parliament" was ordered suppressed to-day.

Club Raided.

Limerick, Sept. 12.—Police raided the Catholic Commercial Club here this morning. The majority of the members of the club are affiliated with the Sinn Fein organization. The authorities declined to give out details as to the results of the raid.

At Londonderry.

Londonderry, Sept. 12.—While police were seizing arms in a house on Rossville Street here to-day, a stone was thrown. The officer in command ordered the troops to fix bayonets. The crowd thereupon dispersed.

Reports from various districts in Donegal say that large parties of troops are arriving. Detachments also have reached Nenagh and Hallinacree, where rifles and shotguns were captured.

While troops were carrying to the barracks arms which had been seized in Londonderry a crowd on the streets threw stones at the soldiers, upon which a baton charge took place, clearing the thoroughfares.

Sinn Fein members of the House of Commons spoke to the crowd from a motor lorry opposite the barracks. Police broke up the crowd.

SAYS PRICE OF BACON TOO HIGH

Chairman of Board of Commerce Makes Statement at Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Sept. 12.—"I do not see the justification in bacon at 65 cents and to cents a pound," declared Judge H. A. Robson, chairman of the Board of Commerce, at to-day's session of the Board here. Evidence had been adduced showing that the cost price of bacon sold at those prices was 34 cents a pound, the 70-cent price being for sliced bacon.

Figures showing that bacon bought from Armour's in Duluth was four and a half cents cheaper laid down in Winnipeg despite necessity of paying duty, freight, exchange and all incidental expenses than the product from the local packers, in a lower grade, and one and five-eighths cents cheaper in a higher grade were produced by John Guest, manager of a large departmental store meat market. The shipment from Duluth was made recently, and was an experiment. The statement was filed as an exhibit.

Harry Whittle, K.C., representing the Government, was much interested in the price charged for slicing bacon. In Eaton's and the Hudson's Bay store this was kept to two or three cents, but many other dealers charged as much as six cents. One witness believed at least one pound was left over from the ends of a side of bacon which was sliced and this had to be sold at half the cost price.

Invoices showing a spread of twenty to twenty-five per cent. between cost and selling price of bacon in several stores were produced, and it was this that drew the remark from the chairman that he saw no justification in the high price of the retailers.

TROPICAL HURRICANE IN GULF OF FLORIDA HEADED FOR TEXAS

New Orleans, La., Sept. 12.—The tropical hurricane in this gulf, which has caused storm damage on the Florida coast since Tuesday night is headed westward for the Texas coast. Storm warnings were ordered up to-day from Port Arthur to Corpus Christi.

MOTION ON RETURNED SOLDIERS AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—D. E. Rodman, Unionist, East Calgary, has given notice that he will move on Monday in the Commons: "That it is desirable immediately to appoint a Royal Commission to investigate fully into the whole question of the reinstatement into civil life of former members of the overseas forces and their dependents, and to report thereon."

Col. Hulme Named B.C. Commissioner on Cost of Living

Vancouver, Sept. 12.—Lieut. Colonel H. D. Hulme, of this city, received notification to-day from Judge H. A. Robson, Winnipeg, chairman of the Board of Commerce, of his appointment as Cost-of-Living Commissioner for British Columbia, to take evidence under the Combines and Fair Prices Act.

TELLS HOW ABSENTEES AND SICK MAY REGISTER

Provisions have been made for the registration of sick persons and absentees on the new voters' list which is being prepared for the coming Federal bye-election, according to an announcement from Capt. H. W. R. Moore, returning officer. "Any person who is sick or disabled, or actually temporarily absent from the city while the registrars are making up the lists, can get his name on the list on application by his employer or by a relative," explains Mr. Moore. The employer or relative must have actual personal knowledge of the facts and must be prepared to testify thereto under oath.

A voter who is absent from the city while the registrars are sitting can also obtain a vote by personally applying at the Court of Revision.

A banker was asked by an impecunious farmer for a loan. The banker was one of those people who are deaf for commercial purposes. The farmer was chronically wanting to borrow, and his security was getting shaky.

"I'd like to borrow five thousand," pleaded the farmer. The banker cupped his hand behind his lame ear and said: "Speak a little louder and cut down the amount."

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves, our bodies need more phosphorus than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by Cyrus H. Bowen in Victoria and by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health. Miss Georgia Hamilton, who was once thin and frail, reporting her own experience, writes: "Bitro-Phosphate has brought about a magic transformation with me. I gained 15 pounds and never before felt so well."

CAUTION:—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

ADMIRAL COONTZ WELL KNOWN HERE

Former Commandant at Bremerton Now Flies Flag on Dreadnought Wyoming

Rear-Admiral R. E. Coontz, of the battleship Wyoming, one of the American fleet, which passed up the Straits yesterday, will be remembered here as the Commandant of the Bremerton Navy Yard.

He is well-known along the Pacific coast. During the earlier part of the war he was stationed at Bremerton. Previously his shore duty had consisted largely of service in the Bureau of Navigation at Washington, at the Annapolis Naval Academy and at Colon.

In 1918 he was given command of a division of the Atlantic fleet. When the Pacific fleet was organized he was placed in command of Division No. 6. He flies his flag from the masthead of the dreadnought Wyoming.

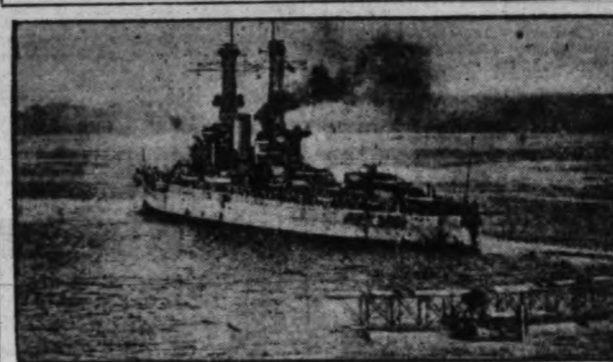

Rear-Admiral Coontz was born in Missouri in 1864. He graduated from the naval academy at Annapolis in 1885, and was commissioned an ensign two years later. He became a junior lieutenant in 1896, a lieutenant in 1899, a lieutenant-commander in 1905, a captain in 1912 and a rear-admiral in 1918.

During the Spanish-American war, Rear-Admiral Coontz served on the Charleston and the Boston. Later he served on a number of cruisers and battleships, among them being the Philadelphia, Buffalo, Nebraska, Baltimore and Georgia.

Commander W. A. Glassford, of the U. S. destroyer Chauncey, is also well-known in these waters.

The destroyer fleet yesterday anchored inside the breakwater. Rear-Admiral Coontz was last here in November, 1917, when at the invitation of the Victoria Loan Committee, he attended the ball here with a number of American officers, naval and military.

WAR VETERANS' SOCCER.

A meeting of the Great War Veterans' Soccer Club will be held Monday for the purpose of electing officers and signing up players.

THE BOSS SCORED.

The "boss" was a thorough business man, and woe betide the assistant if his eagle eye noticed anything in the form of waste. One day, whilst on duty a particular "lady" friend, coming in to make her purchases, asked for rashers of bacon.

The choicest piece was found, and upon cutting the rashers the bones were conveniently forgotten to be weighed in. This would naturally be to the advantage of the customer.

At the close of business, to his surprise, in his coat-pocket the assistant found a parcel. Thinking a mistake had been made, he opened it, but discovered the aforementioned bacon-bones, with an enclosure saying: "It's the bite that 'make' a man, and the bits that 'break' a man." The boss had scored.

Old Giles was taking out an insurance policy on his life, and he and his wife were puzzling over the forms that had arrived for him to sign.

"Yer see this?" said Giles, "it says: 'Age of father if living.' I suppose I must fill it in."

The form was at last filled, and a few days later Giles received a visit from the agent.

"What do you mean by your form?" said the agent. "You state your father's age as one hundred and ten. That is ridiculous."

"No, it ain't," replied Giles; "your form says 'if living,' and that's the age he'd be if he was alive now."

WHAT PATRICK "SAW."

Patrick O'Reilly had just been introduced for the first time in his life to a circus saw, and the foreman of the sawmills, after giving him the necessary orders, left Patrick to his work.

The son of Erin was vastly interested in the buzzing blade, and his curiosity getting the better of his discretion, soon found himself minus a finger.

As he sat disconsolately binding up his hand the foreman reappeared.

"Halloa, my man, what's up with you?" he cried.

In moving accents Patrick described his accident.

The foreman frowned. He was thinking of the Employers Liability Act.

"And how in earth did you manage that?" he cried, angrily.

Patrick shook his head.

"Sure, and I don't know! I just touched the blessed thing like this wid my fingers—Be jabbers, there's another gone!"

A new boarder was a novelty at Mrs. Starr's establishment. You see most of the occupants were Civil Servants, and we all know what fixture they are. The new-comer—in the Pension Department—was therefore given great attention at the dinner-table.

"The study of the occult sciences interests me very much," he remarked. "I love to explore the dark depths of the mysterious, to delve into the regions of the unknown, as it were, and to—"

"May I help you to another sausage?" interrupted the landlady.

And she couldn't understand why the other boarders smiled audibly.

It will be welcome news to picture fans that the Dominion has secured for next week's attraction Mary Pickford in her latest new super production "The Hoodlum," declared by all who have already seen it to be a worthy successor to "Daddy Long Legs." "The Hoodlum" unquestionably affords Little Mary the greatest character role of her career, a character rich in pathos and humor.

In the role of Amy Burk she is first seen as the spoiled grand daughter of the very wealthy Alexander Guthrie. Silk pyjamas, several fancy built roadsters, a private tutor, etc., these are a few of her possessions. Then in order to live with her father who is writing a book and incidentally living among the poor to secure local atmosphere, Mary leaves her wealthy grandfather and starts living in a tenement. How she adapts herself to the change and the adventure and romance she encounters forms an ideal Pickford story, which will delight all.

VARIETY

Florence Reed's advice to "movie stage stricken" girls is: "Don't do it unless you have abundant health."

odies of energy, a highly optimistic temperament to overcome discouragements, and incidentally the realization that motion picture acting is one of the hardest kinds of work ever invented. Still, Miss Reed has this encouragement to offer: "There's always room at the top."

Like many other sterling artists, Florence Reed is a product of "stock," her first stage experience being obtained with the famous Proctor Stock Company at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, New York. For the last four years Miss Reed has divided her time between stage and screen. Her latest superpicture, "Her Code of Honor," is said to surpass any previous offering of this emotional star. Florence Reed is to be seen again to-day at the Variety in "Her Code of Honor."

COLUMBIA

An international marriage in war time is the theme of the newest World Picture, "The Way Out," in which two brilliant stars, June Elvidge and Carlyle Blackwell, appear. This extremely interesting photoplay will be shown at the Columbia again to-day. Film fans will be surprised and astonished by this corkingly good photoplay, and will be royally entertained by it. See it.

The big climax of the production occurs on a battlefield in Europe, where, amid shot and shell, Robert Barr (played by Carlyle Blackwell), reaches a vital decision affecting his future and his happiness. The scene is dramatically big and is played in

AMUSEMENTS TO-DAY

Royal Victoria—Orpheum vaudeville.

Pantages—Vaudeville.

Columbia—Carlyle Blackwell and June Elvidge in "The Way Out."

Romano—Evelyn Greeley and Montagu Love in "Three Green Eyes."

The Dominion—Douglas Fairbanks in "The Knickerbocker Buckaroo."

Variety—Florence Reed in "Her Code of Honor."

a forceful, unforgettable manner by this superb actor.

"The Way Out" has been staged in a lavish manner that will make every one sit up and take notice. The production is one that will stand out in the memory of everyone who sees it.

PANTAGES

Myron Golden, one of the principals in the Golden Russian Troupe which is headlining the current Pantages bill, declared to-day that Russia would rise from the ruins of its Bolshevik period a newer, better and safer country. He predicted the coming of a Napoleon into the bloody riot that is current there now and the guiding of the people by the new Man of Destiny along paths that will lead to prosperity and brighter days. Just as the little Corsican took the "crown of France from the gutter" as he himself once described his actions, this man who will take hold upon the tattered threads of Russia's destinies will pick from the rack and ruin of revolution the Russia of former days and rehabilitate it. Golden was born in Russia—the Russia of a czar's domination. "Compared to its present state," the producer declared, "the darkest days of the pre-war era were as nothing. I have heard of atrocities which make those of the Cossacks riding down the mobs of white acts. I have read in letters from my friends of brutalities by Red forces which outshone those of the Hun in Belgium. But I firmly believe that brighter days are coming," Mr. Golden concluded.

ROMANO

"Three Green Eyes" is the unusual title of the unusual new World Picture which, with an all-star cast, will be seen again to-day at the Romano. It is a real all-star cast that is presenting this picture—Carlyle Blackwell, Montagu Love, Evelyn Greeley, June Elvidge and Johnny Hines. In addition, there are a number of prominent film favorites who assist the stars in the rendition of the production. From every angle, "Three Green Eyes" is distinctly all-star—in story, in class of production, in the stars who appear in the cast, and in the interest and entertainment value of the picture.

Each of the stars has a role that is particularly congenial and likable. Many of the scenes in "Three Green Eyes" were taken in Florida, where the company went especially for the purpose of taking these particular views. Naturally, the outdoor scenes are particularly beautiful and are different from the usual run of outdoor "shows."

STONE AND KALIX ON ORPHEUM BILL

Popular Vaudeville Will Again Entertain Large Crowds

Amelia Stone and Arman Kaliz, two of the most popular musical comedy stars in vaudeville, will be seen here to-night, with a Saturday matinee and evening performance at the Royal Victoria theatre. Mr. Kaliz has the distinction of being talented not only as an actor, but as a singer, composer and dancer. There is much exquisite charm in the development of "Romance," as interpreted by Stone and Kaliz, and patrons of the Orpheum will be given a pleasing sentimental story in song that will be a relief from the encroachment of jazz and ragtime upon the more classical.

Maleta Bonconi, violin virtuoso may be safely classed among the foremost violinists now appearing in public. Her tone is full and refined in quality, her intonation flawless, and her bowing elegant. She will make a splendid feature on this week-end.

Belle and Wood two young women of exceptional grace, have gotten together a collection of delightful different dance numbers. The two open as boy and girl, costuming this number from the ante-bellum period. Eclectic dancing and high kicking close the act for a fair sized hit. The young ladies are pretty capable dancers and wear several costumes which are becoming.

HOW A YOUNG GIRL SUFFERED

And Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Told By Her Mother.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for what it has done for my daughter. She was 15 years of age, very sickly and pale and had to stay home from school most of the time. She suffered agonies from backache and dizziness and was with out appetite. For three months she was under the doctor's care and got no better, always complaining about her back and side aching. I didn't know what to do. I read in the paper about your wonderful medicine so I made up my mind to try it. She has taken five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and doesn't complain any more with her back and side aching. She has gained in weight and feels much better. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers and daughters."—Mrs. M. F. FORD, 51 Mary Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

ous by Tetrazzini, Melba and Sembrich. She possesses a great voice. In addition to this the Seven Honey Boys will present "The Honey Boy at Home." The picture section of the Orpheum programme and the musical setting at the hands of the Orpheum Orchestra will continue to be one of the bright spots in the Orpheum bill.

Father—"I'm ashamed to see you crying because a bee stung you. Act like a man."

Do You Remember The Old Corn Doctor?

He stood on the street,
in the olden days, and offered a "magic corn cure."

The same ingredients, harsh and inefficient, are sold in countless forms today.

But they did not end
corns, and they do not now.
Nor does padding, nor does paring—methods older still.

The One Right Way

Modern scientists in the Bauer & Black laboratories have evolved a perfect method and embodied it in Blue-jay.

In 48 hours, while the corn is forgotten, Blue-jay completely ends it, and forever. Hardly one corn in ten needs a second application.

The way is sure. It is easy, pleasant, scientific.
Quit old-fashioned methods. Try Blue-jay on one corn—tonight.

LONGSHOREMEN ARE CONSIDERING SCALE

Men Working Coast Boats Offered 75 Cents and $1.10
Overtime

Vancouver, Sept. 12.—An offer of 75c and $1.10 an hour has been offered longshoremen working on coastwise boats by the shipowners.
The men are now receiving 65c and 90c an hour. The increase offered is in the same proportion as that applying to deep sea work.

The longshoremen are considering the proposition and will take a vote on whether this scale is acceptable when they meet on Friday night.
There has been no cessation of work,
the negotiations merely being carried on with a view to reaching a new working agreement.

UNIT OF AMERICAN FLEET WILL PAY VISIT HERE AT ROYAL WEEK FESTIVITIES

Fleet Under Admiral Rodman Will Also Go to Vancouver to Welcome Prince of Wales—Flagship New Mexico Is Mightiest Battleship in These Waters

Representation at the Royal Week festivities of the United States Navy will be secured, announcement was made last evening at the Canadian Club supper, by the dispatch of a warship to Victoria.

While it is presumed that it will be one of the vessels to be detailed at Bremerton, announcement of its identity will not probably be made until next week. Already one day has been set apart for the visitors at the fair, which will be known as American Day.

Coinciding as the fair does with the visit of the Prince of Wales, the arrival here of an American naval vessel will add a happy touch to the plans for the week after next.

Fleet Sails.

Shortly before sunrise this morning the American super-dreadnought
New Mexico and the dreadnought Arkansas, together with the accompanying fleet of fast destroyers, left anchorage in the Outer Harbor and headed across the straits for Port Angeles to pick up the remainder of the U. S. Pacific fleet preparatory to the entry of the armada into Seattle, where to-morrow the ships will be reviewed by President Woodrow Wilson.

Next week the New Mexico, Mississippi and the Idaho will return to Port Angeles, and from there will go on to Vancouver to welcome the Prince of Wales on his arrival on the Pacific coast.

Particular interest in the forthcoming visit of the future British monarch was evinced by the officers and men of the United States fleet.
The announcement that a squadron of American ships headed by the flagship New Mexico would go to Vancouver to participate in the welcome to the Prince, was made yesterday by Admiral Hugh Rodman when he met the Victoria reception committee in his quarters on the New Mexico.

Admiral Rodman knows the Prince personally, having met the heir to the British throne on several occasions when the American fleet was co-operating with the British Grand Fleet in the North Sea during the war.

The American officers were impressed by the Prince's democratic ideas and look upon him as a real good fellow.

The Prince of Wales will be the guest of Admiral Rodman at a dinner to be held on the flagship New Mexico.

Admiral Rodman was delighted to be able to visit Victoria with his squadron. He was here many years ago on the Albatross, and in a junior

GIANT GUNS OF NEW MEXICO FIRED BY ELECTRICITY

Each of the twelve giant 14-inch guns mounted on the super-dread-nought New Mexico has a mechanical energy equal to sixty thousand muskets, so that the mechanical energy of the main battery of the ship is equal to 720, 000 muskets. The main battery consists of four revolving turrets, each turret mounting three 14-inch guns which may be fired simultaneously, and all twelve either to port or starboard, or six may be fired ahead or astern.

All the guns comprising the giant's armaments are operated and fired by electricity.

There are tiers and tiers of decks that would take a week thoroughly after the giant vessel had come to an anchorage off the breakwater. He was received with courtesy and given every opportunity to inspect the wonderful fighting machine.

Wonders of Ship.

The New Mexico was explored from stem to stern and the wonderful ingenuity of her mechanism and structural improvements explained.
The method of electric propulsion and her powerful armament was briefly explained in yesterday's issue.
Adequately to describe the wonders to be seen aboard the New Mexico and the Arkansas would take columns of newspaper space.

Life at sea these days would appear to be a continuous round of pleasure for the men who man the American warships.

Player Pianos.

Here and there one hears the merry tinkling of player pianos and there are gramophones without number.
Close by can be found a group of happy barfoot sailors—passing a horrible or the latest shimmy dance.
The reading and writing room is invariably to be found filled with studious tars. This compartment is supplied with all the latest books and magazines and is a popular resort.

Then there is a splendidly-equipped barber shop, where the American sailor can get a shave or haircut, or even his finger nails manicured, at a minimum of expense.

The ship's hospital is equipped with swinging beds and is spotless in white enamel. All over the ship there are to be seen broad arrows on a red cross ground, which if followed will ultimately lead to the hospital.

Huge electric radiators are conspicuous by which means hot or cold air is radiated through the ship according to the seasons. Some of the most noticeable features of the flagship are the dispensary, fully stocked for any medical or surgical emergency; a central ship's post office, with letter boxes posted at convenient points; the oil and electrically-operated galley, the butcher's shop, the cold storage plants, the recreation rooms, gymnasium, machinists' shop, carpenter shop and other instructional compartments where the ship's complement are put through a course of training in various trades.

Ship's Newspaper.
The ship also boasts a newspaper, which is known as The Bulletin. There is a model printing shop and newsroom containing everything necessary for the production of a paper.
There are linotype machines and a printing press. The staff of reporters are to be found all over the ship and anything of news value promptly find its way to the news-room, when The Bulletin is quickly snapped up. The circulation is the limit of the ship's complement. At another point is to be found a moving picture plant where thousands of feet of film are prepared for the entertainment of the crew. A system exists whereby there is an interchange of films by the various vessels of the fleet. Regular movie shows are put on. When the sailor lads tire of this class of entertainment an impromptu dance is inaugurated, and the numerous pianos are brought into requisition.

NEAR COLLISION AS AMERICAN WARSHIPS ENTERED STRAITS

Light Cruiser Birmingham Passed Perilously Close to Another Ship in Fog

When the Pacific fleet of the United States navy was entering the Straits yesterday morning, shrouded in a bank of fog, the fast light cruiser Birmingham passed through the fleet formation and narrowly missed colliding with one of the big ships of the battle squadron.

Details of the close shave in the fog were related by officers of the New Mexico following the arrival of the fleet from San Francisco.
Dirty weather was experienced shortly after the fleet cleared from the Golden Gate and dense fog set in as the line of ships was heading for the entrance to the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

LEFT DAY AHEAD.

The New Mexico and the Arkansas, conveyed by a fleet of small craft led by the destroyer Chancey, left San Francisco a day ahead of the main fleet. The two battleships slowed down off the mouth of the Columbia River for the Arkansas to take aboard
Secretary of the Navy Hon. Josephus Daniels, and by the time the Straits were reached, had been overhauled by the rest of the fleet.

Forging ahead through the fog, the Birmingham, pierced the formation, and, according to officers' statements, narrowly missed a collision.

TICKLISH SITUATION.

The situation was a ticklish one but fortunately the Birmingham steered clear.

The main body of the fleet proceeded on its way to Port Angeles to await the return of the New Mexico and Arkansas from Victoria.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS DISPLAYED INTEREST IN AEROPLANE WORK

Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the United States Navy, yesterday afternoon visited the plant of Yarrow Ltd., at Esquimalt. He also looked over the new drydock site. The party, which included Premier John Oliver, Alderman Joseph Patrick,
and Commander Foote, was conducted over the plant by Norman A.
Yarrow. Mr. Daniels evinced interest in the repairing facilities for vessels, and hunting trip to Saturna
and Mayne Islands, accompanied by
Edw. E. Jenkins, assistant Pacific
Coast manager, and George H. Way-

U.S.S. NEW MEXICO REACHED EUROPE AT ARMISTICE PERIOD

The United States 32,000-ton super-dreadnought New Mexico is the product of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and has been in commission about sixteen months. She did not see any war service in European waters, but reached the other side of the Atlantic at the time the armistice was signed.
The Atlantic cruise was the first long trip she had undertaken before coming to this coast.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS DISPLAYED INTEREST IN AEROPLANE WORK

Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the United States Navy, yesterday afternoon visited the plant of Yarrow Ltd., at Esquimalt. He also looked over the new drydock site. The party, which included Premier John Oliver, Alderman Joseph Patrick,
and Commander Foote, was conducted over the plant by Norman A.
Yarrow. Mr. Daniels evinced interest in the repairing facilities for vessels, and hunting trip to Saturna
and Mayne Islands, accompanied by
Edw. E. Jenkins, assistant Pacific Coast manager, and George H. Wayland, superintendent at Orden Point.

cupy the same chair. The lieutenant sprang to his feet and saluted.
"Sir," he said. "I have the honor to report an engagement at close quarters, in which I have been entirely victorious.
It now remains for you to give your sanction to the terms of surrender."

MUST STAMP OUT TUBERCULOSIS EVIL

Dr. H. E. Young Speaks of Public Health at Vancouver

"We have demonstrated that we can stamp out malaria, typhoid fever and smallpox, and why not tuberculosis?" asked Dr. H. E. Young of Victoria, head of the provincial board of health, during the course of an address given at the twelfth annual meeting of the directors of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society of British Columbia, held Tuesday evening at the new Rotary Clinic.

"We can control tuberculosis," continued the speaker, "but it will take concentrated effort to stamp it out. We must never forget that it is fatal to become specialists in the narrow sense of the word. We must not forget that tuberculosis is an economic condition and that in order to rid the community of it everything that tends to improve the public health must be given earnest attention, from the eradication of dust in the factories to improving the milk supply of the city."

Public Health Nurse.

Dr. Young declared that "the amount of sickness in the community rested with the community," and that "physical defects had small beginnings, and could be easily remedied if taken in time." He also painted a vivid picture of the Utopia to be built up in the future by the public health nurse, who, he said, "would carry the gospel of health into the homes of the people."

Future Hospitals.

"We hear a great deal about state medicine," he added, "and we are told of a glorified civil service, where doctors will work for salaries even as laymen. This in my view will never come. It will always be left to people to choose their own medical men, but state medicine will mean that hospital facilities will be improved, that there will be fewer but better hospitals, that all hospitals will be scientific and up to date, that nurses will be trained in public health work as well as in bedside work. A hospital then will not be the place to go in case of dire illness, but it will be visited by one and all two or three times a year for expert advice on general health matters."

The Lesson of War.

Dr. Young pointed out that at present "public health does not worry the busy healthy man until some member of his family is stricken down" and insisted that "this state of affairs should not exist after the lessons taught by the physical condition of many of the men who enlisted at the outbreak of war."

"When the call came it was found that thirty per cent of the men from the age of twenty to thirty had to be rejected for physical defects and that twenty per cent had to be put under an intensive course of training to remedy defects."

"It has taken the world-wide war to drive home to the people the fact that we must set our house in order," concluded Dr. Young, "and this is the psychological moment to begin."
